The Royal Mail steamship Persia, Captain JUDKINS, from Liverpool, March 19, arrived at this port yesterday morning.

The Kangaroo, Captain JEFFREYS, from Liverpool, March 16, arrived a few hours previously.

The Cunard steamship Africa, from New-York, arrived out at Liverpool at 7 o'clock on the morning of the 14th, and the screw-steamer Saxonia, from New-York, reached Southampton on the same morning.

The screw-steamship City of Manchester arrived out at Liverpool at 1 o'clock on the afternoon of the 17th, and the Fulton reached Southampton on the morning of the 18th.

The clipper-ship Dreadnought arrived at Liverpool on the 12th March, her passage from New-York being called 13 days and 8 hours mean time. Her advices were only anticipated one day by the steamer Lebanon.

Confidence in peace was again on the wane, and the news is decidedly more warlike. At the last moment, however, there was a decided reaction, founded upon rumors not very clearly defined, or perhaps well founded.

GREAT BRITAIN.

In the House of Lords on the 14th March, on the motion of Lord STANLEY of Alderley, copies of any contracts which may have been made by Government with any individual or company for the construction of electric telegraphs, were ordered to be laid on the table. Lord STANLEY opposed all unconditional guarantees.

In the House of Commons on the same evening the proceedings were of no special importance.

On the 15th, in the House of Lords, the Earl of MALMESBURY reiterated the statement that negotiations were in progress with Hanover for the termination of the Stade dues. If the negotiations failed and the treaty expired, the correspondence relating to the subject would be laid on the table.

In the House of Commons the bill for the abolition of Church rates was debated and passed to a second reading by a vote of 242 against 168.

On the 16th March the House of Lords was not in session, and the House of Commons was engaged upon the new Bankruptcy and Insolvency bill, which it passed to a second reading.

On the 17th, in the Lords, the Earl of CLARENDON called attention to and asked for information regarding the recent dispute between Turkey and Montenegro.

The Earl of MALMESBURY said there had been continual feuds between the Montenegrins and Turkey, the latter claiming Montenegro as an integral part of the Ottoman Empire. A Commission had now been appointed to define the boundaries of Montenegro, and thus settle all future disputes.

In the House of Commons, Sir E. B. LYTTON said it would be inconvenient at the present stage of affairs to present Mr. GLADSTONE'S report in regard to the Ionian Islands.

Mr. FITZGERALD stated that Commissioner YEH was still in custody at Calcutta, but would be liberated upon the ratification of the treaty of peace with China.

On the 18th, in the House of Lords, the Earl of DERBY explained the position of affairs in India, and stated that Government were now acting in cordial cooperation with Lord CANNING. They had recently recommended Her Majesty to confer on him the Grand Cross of the Bath, and to elevate him to the Peerage, as soon as he should be enabled to announce the entire pacification of India.

In the House of Commons Mr. ROEBUCK suggested to Lord JOHN RUSSELL the expediency of altering his proposed amendment to the Reform bill into a series of resolutions, as in the case of the India bill last year. He feared that the adoption of the amendment would put off the question of reform for another year, and restore to office those whom the House last year drove out.

Lord JOHN RUSSELL said that he hoped to satisfy the House that he was right in moving his resolution as an amendment.

The Reform bill was to come up for its second reading on the 21st ult.

The Reform measure continued to be actively canvassed in England. Earl GREY, one of the leaders in the Whig Party, had written a letter strongly objecting to Lord JOHN RUSSELL'S contemplated amendment. Some reports went so far as to say that Ministers contemplated a withdrawal of the bill, but it was not believed that they would do more than consent to some important modifications. Another Sunday demonstration had taken place in Hyde Park in opposition to the bill.

The London Herald (Ministerial) says that it has high authority for stating that in case Lord JOHN RUSSELL should succeed in upsetting the Ministry, and be called upon to form another, he will give the Cabinet appointments to Messrs. BRIGHT, GIBSON, AYSTON, ROEBUCK and HORSMAN—all these gentlemen having tendered their services.

The "Phenix Club trials" at Tralee were terminated on the 15th by the disagreement of the Jury. They were locked up for 22 hours, when they were discharged, being unable to agree upon a verdict. The counsel for the prisoner who was first placed on trial, took two days in the delivery of his address, which occupied, in all, 12 hours.

The trial of the persons arrested at Cork for their connection with the Phœnix Club, was to have commenced on the 17th March, but it was postponed till the next Assizes.

Lord COWLEY returned to London on the 12th, and had had protracted interviews with Ministers. Nothing authentic had transpired in regard to his mission to Vienna.

A powerful Committee, including such men as Lords Palmerston, Shaftesbury, John Russell, Lyndhurst and others, had been formed for the purpose of raising funds in aid of the Neapolitan exiles.

The Neapolitan exiles continued to evoke a good deal of sympathy, and liberal subscriptions were being made to the fund formed for their benefit. The bulk of the exiles were about to leave Cork for Bristol. One of their number, who went to Bristol in advance of his companions, met with a perfect ovation. The horses were taken from his carriage, and he was drawn through the streets by the populace amidst great cheering. A subsequent doubt was raised as to whether the individual so honored was really one of the exiles.

The Earl of ROSSLYN has accepted the post of Under-Secretary of State of War, vacated by Viscount HARDINGE.

The American ship David Stewart, which put into Cork with the Baron PORRO and the other Neapolitan exiles, was about to leave Queenstown for Liverpool for a cargo.

Mr. CHARLES DICKENS will bring out, on the 30th of April, a new periodical, to be entitled All round the Year. Household Words will cease to appear on the last Saturday in May. The new serial will open with a new tale by Mr. DICKENS.

The London Times has an editorial on the corruption brought to light in the Naval Department of the United States, by the Congressional Investigating Committee; and pointing a moral from the exposure in opposition to the introduction of Democratic institutions; it proclaims that Government's electioneering politics are infinitely more scandalous in the land of Democracy and the ballot than in England.

The same journal has an article on the present state of the Atlantic Telegraph enterprise. It says that the leading submarine cable-makers are now willing to contract for the successful submergence of an Atlantic wire, taking all the risk of loss or damage upon themselves. In regard to the refusal of an unconditional guarantee, Government was incited to such a course by the fact of two other Companies having been organized, and each proposing to lay cables between Europe and America without any guarantee at all. One of these Companies, says the Times, is now actually preparing to carry out the object in view at its own risk and expense, without troubling the Government in any way. The pending offer of a conditional guarantee of 8 per cent. is said to be connected with a proviso that the Atlantic Telegraph Company shall give up the monopoly granted to them for fifty years for landing cables in Newfoundland. This monopoly the Atlantic Company had to a certain extent consented to abandon. The other conditions imposed by Government are not definitely known, but they were still under consideration by the Company.

A fire had occurred on board the American ship E. C. Scranton, at Liverpool, but it was soon extinguished and the damage was very slight.

The first and second engineers of the screw-steamer Begota, running between the various ports of the South Pacific, had been committed for trial in Liverpool on a charge of having roasted a fireman, named LANDOR, to death, by tying him to a ladder immediately in front of the steamer's furnaces.

Latest News by the Persia.

LONDON, Saturday, March 19, 1859.

From the Daily News' City Article, Friday evening.

The Stock markets opened with a dull appearance; in the afternoon, however, a sudden and very remarkable change took place. Influential buyers came forward, and prices in every department quickly assumed an upward tendency, which became still more decided after the recognized hours of business.

Consols finally closed three-eighths per cent. higher than yesterday, and towards 5 o'clock a fresh rise of one-eighth per cent. was quoted.

English, French and Lombardo-Venetian Railway shares show equal buoyancy.

To account for this movement a number of reassuring reports were circulated.

According to one, Lord COWLEY'S diplomatic exertions has at length attained some important results in the interest of peace.

The improvement on the Paris Bourse to-day, amounted to only 5 cents for account and ⅛ per cent. for money.

Increased activity prevailed to-day in the discount market, and little or no business took place below 2½ per cent.

The demand is increased through the large business now going forward in the transmission of gold and silver to and from the continent.

About £40,000 in bar gold was this day withdrawn from the Bank for transmission to the Continent in payment for silver.

The Exchanges are affected by the withdrawal of silver from the Continent. The sum to be taken out by the Indian steamers on the 20th, is £650,000, all silver, except £3,029.

Bar Silver has advanced to 5s. 2½d.

Times' City Article.

The English Funds opened without actual alteration. The tone of the market was rather better. Some time after the termination of the regular business, several large purchases were effected by Brokers, who frequently act for influential operators, and a sudden rise occurred of nearly ⅜ ₱ cent.

Rumors were circulated that France and Austria have consented to suspend or diminish their armaments.

No doubt was entertained that some important intelligence had been received.

In the Foreign Exchanges there was a slight reduction in the rates on Holland and Hamburgh. The Colonial produce markets during the week have been quiet.

The traffic returns of receipts in the United Kingdom for the week ending March 12, show an increase of £51,040.

The Daily News describes Mr. ROEBUCK'S proceedings last night as Quixotic, his demand pragmatical, and says that it was received amid the chuckling cheers of Anti-Reformers and the reproachful silence of all sincere Liberals.

The Times accounts for the failure by stating that last year, when Lord JOHN RUSSELL established the Indian precedent, he wished to keep the Government in, whereas now he desires to get them out.

The Star says the course Mr. ROEBUCK commends ought to be equally scouted by the Government and the people.

DISORGANIZATION OF THE CABINET.

The Times says, the secession of se veral members has not left to those who remain the legacy of mutua confidence or internal peace. The bonds of party discipline are relaxed. The animosities that always wait on a losing cause are inflamed, and no confidence is felt that, when so many have gone, the rest wil have resolution to stand their ground.

The Morning Star says it is no secret that Lord J. MANNERS was stung by the response of the House to his appeal on the Church Rate question into an offer of resignation. Still more notorious and significant is the fact that a meeting of upwards of 40 Conservative members was held the other day in a committee room of the House, and Mr. JOHN PALMER, one of the oldest and most respected country gentlemen, was deputed to request Lord DERBY to withdraw his illstarred Reform bill.

The Daily News says Lord DERBY, when asked why he could not throw the Reform bill overboard, is reported to have replied that he had found it hard work ing riding so far without a saddle, but how could he be expected without a horse. In other words, Lord DERBY full well understands that the moment he admits his inability to grapple with Reform, he virtually surrenders his position.

The Star reports, as an authentic anecdote, that Lord DERBY induced Lord MANNERS not to resign, by saying that if any more went they would all go together.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Reports of reform meetings continue to occupy considerable space in the papers. At Leeds, last night, there was an important demonstration in favor of reform, but against the Government bill. The split in the Liberal Party having been healed at the last moment great unanimity prevailed.

FRANCE.

The Moniteur of March 15 publishes another official article on the war question, of which the following is a telegraphic summary:

"It commences by stating that part of Germany now presents an appearance both afflicting and astonishing. France has occupied herself with the consideration of the alarming state of affairs in Italy merely to allay it, in concert with the allies, and in the interest of European tranquillity. It is impossible to show a more sincere desire to unravel peacefully the existing difficulties, and to prevent further complications, which are always the result of want of foresight and decision. The article proceeds to show that the mistrust of a part of Germany springs from reflections unjust and painful to France, and shows contempt for the independence of her policy. The existence of a great nation like France is not restricted to her frontiers, but manifests itself in the world at large by salutary acts. France used her endeavors for the benefit of her national power and the advantage of civilization. When a nation relinquishes this character, she relinquishes her rank. To contest her right to this legitimate influence would be to mistake the rights of France. The Emperor understood how to overcome all prejudices when he ascended the throne. What would have happened if, by acting otherwise, he had rejected with distrust the servants of a former dynasty; and if, instead of establishing the tranquillity of Europe on a firmer footing he had staken it by redeeming at the price of European security and independence, the recollections of 1814 and '15? Such, however, he has not done. The Emperor does not hold the whole of Germany responsible for the errors and malevolence of certain manifestations which spring rather from mean resentment than from serious fears. Germany has nothing to anticipate from us for her independence. We sympathize with her nationality. By showing herself impartial, she will show herself foresighted, and will do better service to the cause of peace. Prussia understood this line of policy when she united herself with England in order to promulgate wise counsels at Vienna, at a time when agitators were endeavoring to arouse angry passions and to form a coalition amongst the States of the German Confederation against us. The attitude of Prussia is certainly more advantageous to Germany than the excitement of those who, appealing to the malice and prejudice of 1813, expose themselves to the risk of irritating national feeling in France. The French people is susceptible in regard to its honor, but at the same time moderate in the employment of its strength. If threats will arouse it, it may nevertheless be pacified by conciliation."

The Patrie says:

"The uncertainty which prevailed as to Lord COWLEY'S mission is in the way of being cleared up. It appears to be beyond doubt that it has produced no positive results."

The Paris Bourse, on the 16th, was much depressed, and the Three ₱ Cents. closed at 67.45—being within ⅛ ₱ cent. of the lowest point yet touched. On the 17th there was an improvement to the extent of about ⅛ ₱ cent. On the 18th the market opened firm, and again higher, but a slight reaction subsequently took place, and the Three's closed at 67.90 for money and account.

The semi-official journals of Paris continue their insulting remarks on the smaller German States.

The Committee on the Budget in the Legislative body had unanimously demanded the suppression of the Ministry of Algeria, and its transfer to the War Department.

Several persons formerly condemned and exiled for political offences had been authorized to return to France.

Orders had been issued for five frigates to be sheathed with iron to make them shot proof.

Lord COWLEY arrived in Paris on the 16th, and had been received by the Emperor. The Paris correspondent of the London Herald says that the ominous silence preserved respecting Lord COWLEY'S mission to Vienna tended to increase the apprehensions of war.

A rumor was current that the Lyons Railroad Company had received orders to keep its line in readiness for the transport of 75,000 men. It was also asserted that the squadron which left Toulon would proceed to Algiers for the purpose of embarking troops at that place.

The projected conferences for examining the recent election proceedings in the Principalities were said to have been adjourned for an indefinite period.

The Paris correspondent of the Daily News says there was great talk of the immediate formation of an army of observation near the Alps. The Minister of War had prohibited leave of absence to officers and soldiers till further orders.

The whole of the numerous Sardinian "Navvies' employed on the Toulon and Marseilles railways had suddenly left for Piedmont.

The Times Paris correspondent writing on the evening of the 17th says:

"Since the war rumors have been in circulation, I hardly remember a moment when people's minds were more depressed than at this day. Everyone looked at his neighbor as if all hope of peace was given up. In the course of the afternoon, however, a report got abroad of Lord COWLEY having had a satisfactory audience of the Emperor this afternoon."

The Paris correspondent of the Daily News says it may now be considered certain that Prince NAPOLEON will be created Viceroy of Algiers.

The Emperor was to review the Imperial Guard on Sunday, the 20th, it being the anniversary of the entry into Paris of NAPOLEON I., on his escape from Elba. There was some expectation that the Emperor would address the troops.

A Berlin letter says that the Russian Ambassador at that Court had communicated to the Foreign Minister a dispatch from Prince GORTSCHAKOFF, promising to support Prussia and England in their endeavors to procure a peaceful solution. The young Prince GORTSCHAKOFF is said to have been the bearer of a similar dispatch to Paris.

A report continues to be circulated in Paris that Prince NAPOLEON will shortly replace Prince JEROME, as President of the Council of Ministers, or will be constituted Vice-President.

The correspondent of the London Chronicle writes:

"Our chess amateurs are being favored with a succession of field-days. M. MONGREDIEU, the President of the London Chess Club, and a very fine player, has been lately here, and played eight games with Mr. MORPHY. They were all most attentively studied encounters, and will be published, but they present this peculiarity, that while in every case they appear, up to the eighteenth or twentieth move, equal on both sides, at about that stage of the game the American, by some unexpected manœuvre, secures the advantage and retains it to the close. The first game only was a draw, the American won the others. A curious tournament is still going on at the Café de la Régence. Upwards of one hundred amateurs have subscribed to give a dinner to Mr. MORPHY, but as a preliminary measure to that act of courtesy, they have agreed to play together in five categories until only one remains victor for each division, when the five will play with the great American champion, at odds graduated according to the strength of each category. The first series of games has been already played, and the others are being regularly proceeded with."

FROM SPAIN.

The Withdrawal of Mr. Dodge and Presentation of Col. Preston—Speeches on the Occasion.

Correspondence of the New-York Times.

MADRID, Sunday, March 13, 1859.

I regret that I have only time to give you the briefest notice of events at this capital.

A great deal of curiosity has been manifested on the part of the Spaniards to see and hear about Mr. PRESTON, who arrived a week since, preceded as he has been by the Message of Mr. BUCHANAN and the Thirty Millions bill in Congress.

He has been courteously received, however, and will be courteously and kindly treated until he opens the subject of the purchase of Cuba, when it is generally believed here that he will just as courteously receive his passports and the information that his mission to Madrid is finished. I do not vouch for the correctness of this, but I have heard it stated on all sides, and I will say that it is the general belief at Madrid that this course is resolved upon by the Government.

Meantime the ceremony of presentation to the Queen and the delivery of credentials, with the short speeches usual on such occasions, passed off quite in an ordinary sort of way yesterday. I send you the official report of the ceremony published in the Government Gazette this morning, with all the speeches. You will remark the peculiarly emphatic good feeling manifested towards General DODGE upon his departure, and the dry formality of the Queen's reply to Mr. PRESTON, which is as much as to say, "How perfectly well we got on with King Log! but as for this new king we must wait to see whether he proposes to to swallow us or NOT."

If the swallowing operation is not attempted, Mr. PRESTON and his very agreeable family will be liked at Madrid, and he will find his stay in every respect a most agreeable one.

THE FAREWELL OF THE HON. MR. DODGE.

From the official Gazette.

At four o'clock yesterday afternoon our lady, Her Majesty the Queen, accompanied by His Excellency, the Prime Minister of State, and the high functionaries of the household, was pleased to receive in a private audience for leave-taking, the Hon. General AUGUSTUS E. DODGE, Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary of the United States of America, who, on being announced by the Introducer of Ambassadors, and on having the honor of placing in the Royal hands the letter which terminated his mission, addressed the following speech in Spanish to Her Majesty:

MADAM: The President of the United States having acceded to the desire which I had expressed to return to my native land, has addressed to your Majesty the letter which I have the honor to place in your Royal hands, and which terminates my mission as Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary near your Majesty.

The President has desired me to express on this occasion to your Majesty the earnest desire with which he is animated to increase and extend the friendly relations which so happily exist between the United States and Spain, and assure to both peoples a continuance of the benefits resulting from them.

For myself, Madam, I can say with truth that during the discharge of the mission confided to me, it has been my incessant anxiety to cultivate with the Government of your Majesty relations of the closest friendship; and that I will bear with me to my country the most gratifying, grateful recollections of Spain.

On taking my leave of your Majesty, it is impossible to repress the expression of my gratitude and acknowledgment for the goodness and constant favor which I as well as my family have received at the hands of your Majesty, your august family, all the authorities, and the Spanish people."

To which Her Majesty was pleased to reply:

"Mr. MINISTER: I regret that the desire to return to your native country, as expressed by you to the President of the United States and kindly acceded to by him, puts an end to your mission here.

The frankness and dignity with which you have discharged your trust have contributed to maintain the close relations which are dictated to both peoples by a common interest.

I am pleased to hear the assurances which you give me in the name of the President of the United States, of the earnest desires which animate him for the increase and extension of those relations, so that under their influence both nations might enjoy the advantages which must result therefrom.

I request that you will assure the President of the United States that I shall always endeavor to maintain harmony and good feeling between the two countries.

You well understand the people whom Providence has placed under my care, and knowing that they appreciate loyalty and frankness, you will not doubt that they will always preserve an agreeable recollection of your name with which those noble qualities are united.

The consideration which I have shown you, and my especial appreciation of yourself and your family, will follow you to your own country."

RECEPTION OF COL. PRESTON.

Our lady the Queen then received in like manner the Hon. Colonel WILLIAM PRESTON, who being likewise presented by the Introducer of Ambassadors, and delivering to Her Majesty his credentials as Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary of the United States of America had the honor to address Her Majesty in the following words:

"MADAM: The President has directed me to renew to your Majesty, on the occasion of delivering my credentials as Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary of the United States in Spain, his wishes for the prosperity of your people, and assurances of his desire to preserve the friendship of your Government.

On inaugurating my official relations with the Court of Madrid, I trust it will be permitted me to assure your Majesty of my personal conviction that the general desire of the people of the United States is to preserve the ancient and uninterrupted friendship which from the commencement of our national existence has always prevailed with Spain, and that during my residence in the Court of your Majesty, continuing the frank and sincere conduct heretofore observed, it shall be my constant endeavor to avoid all ill feeling, and to insure the interests of my country without affecting the friendly relations which fortunately exist at the present time."

And her Majesty was pleased to reply:

"Mr. MINISTER: It has afforded me much satisfaction to hear the sentiments of friendship which, in the name of the President of the United States, you have just expressed to me on delivering the letter which accredits you as Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary at this Court. My own desire is not less earnest to conserve the friendly relations which happily unite the two countries.

Your conviction that the same wishes animate the great body of the people of the United States, and the course which you propose to observe, encourage me to trust that it will be easy for you to contribute to the conservation of the friendship and harmony which should exist between the two nations. I am pleased to believe that your personal qualities will facilitate the attainment of so desirable an object, and my Government, on its part, will concur therein with the most sincere coöperation."

After these official proceedings, the new Minister of the United States presented to Her Majesty the Secretary of Legation, Mr. ROBERT W. WOOLLEY, and Captain HAVILAND, attaché of the same.

PORTUGAL.

The Ministers had tendered their resignations, and the same had been accepted. The Duke of TERCEIRA had formed a new Cabinet. He assumes the Presidency of the Council and the Ministry of War, with FORTES as Minister of the Interior; FERRAO, Justice; RIBEIRO, Finances; LUPA, Public Works, and FERREIRA, Marine.

SARDINIA.

It was asserted that the Sardinian Government had applied to the Emperor NAPOLEON for an auxiliary corps d'armée of 75,000 men.

The troops already under arms in Piedmont, amount to 42,000 men, and the new levies and reserves called out were calculated to bring the total up to 87,000. The orders to join were very stringent.

An order is said to have been received in Paris from the Sardinian Government for 40,000 revolvers, to be paid for out of the new loan. It is also said that the orders given in France for 30,000 pairs of shoes and soldiers' great coats, for the Sardinian army, had been increased to 50,000.

GARIBALDI is said to have been appointed General of Division, and will command the three new battalions being formed at Cuneo.

Volunteers continued to flock into Turin. The number already arrived is stated at over 6,000 men.

It is asserted that a secret Convention between the King of Sardinia and the Emperor NAPOLEON contains the following provision: The Emperor promises assistance, offensive as well as defensive, to the King of Sardinia against Austria, and guarantees to the King whatever territorial advantages may ultimately be obtained in Lombardy, on condition that Savoy and Nice be transferred to France.

It is stated that preparations had been made for transporting, in case of need, the seat of Government to Genoa, which is not exposed, like Turin, to the inroads of an enemy.

ITALY.

A letter from Rome says that the Pope was about to send a Cardinal to Vienna, and another to Paris, to arrange with the Austrian and French Governments the mode of evacuating the Roman States.

The Pope of Rome had announced before the Consistory that he did not claim the fulfilment of the demand for the evacuation of the Papal States. His only intention was to prevent a collision of the two Catholic Empires in his own dominions.

It is stated that in accordance with the wishes of the Pope the French troops are to prolong their stay in the Roman States.

A letter from Naples says: "Last week Vesuvius was the scene of a deplorable event. An American, who, it is said, had the evening before received disastrous news from home, threw himself, while in the presence of a number of travelers of different countries, into a current of lava. His body was, of course, almost instantly consumed."

The operation which the King of Naples had undergone had proved ineffectual. A tumor in the groin was feared. Public prayers had been ordered for the King's recovery.

AUSTRIA.

The London Daily News says the attitude of the Austrian and Sardinian troops was so extremely menacing that the prospect of the crisis being precipitated by a military collision was impressed more painfully than ever upon the public mind.

Warlike preparations continued at Vienna, and the journals indulged in energetic language.

The Austrians were said to be preparing a military hospital at Pavia to have 2 000 beds.

All the regiments on the frontier of Crotia had been moved into Lombardy.

The Emperor FRANCIS JOSEPH was expected shortly to inspect the fortresses and the troops quartered in Italy.

A Vienna dispatch says that large bodies of troops had recently come to that city from the northern and eastern provinces of the Empire, and there was reason to believe that another army of 50,000 men would, in a few days be on their way to Italy.

The Vienna correspondent of the Times says tha Austria will assuredly act strictly on the defensive, and that her great armaments are made purely from lack of faith in the pacific professions of the Emperor of the French.

An outbreak in Central Italy was considered certain before the end of March.

Private letters from the frontiers announce that the Austrians have commenced preparations to lay mines for the purpose of blowing up the bridge of Buffolora over the Ticino.

On the occasion of a dinner party at Milan, the Governor-General is said to have assured his guests that peace would ere long be consolidated. A different opinion, however, prevailed in military circles.

The Vienna correspondent of the London Times sums up the result of Lord COWLEY'S mission, by saying that it amounts to no more than that the relations between the British and Austrian Governments are now more intimate than they were on the day the British mediator arrived at Vienna.

The Vienna Bourse continued to decline daily until the 18th, when there was a rise of 1 ₱ cent. on the strength of favorable news from Paris.

The latest Vienna correspondence of the London Times says the impression that peace would not be long maintained was stronger than ever. Austria was fully prepared for war, but would faithfully keep the promise given to the British Government not to act aggressively.

The latest advices from Milan say that the feeling in that city was quieter.

GERMANY.

In a secret sitting of the Hanoverian Chamber a war loan of £1,000,000 had been resolved upon, and the Government had been urged to demand, at the Diet of Frankfort, the calling out of the Federal reserve.

In all the Churches of Leipsic, prayers had been offered up for the union of the Princes and people of Germany.

RUSSIA.

An Imperial decree, dated March 10, prohibits the exportation of horses from Russia and Poland by the European frontiers.

Siege was being laid to SCHAMYL'S capital in the Caucasus. A stubborn defence was expected.

The Russian Government has recently given orders to the shipbuilders in different French ports to the amount of ten millions of francs.

INDIA AND CHINA.

The mails from Calcutta to Feb. 9, and Hong Kong Jan. 29, arrived at London March 16.

There is no political news of interest.

The Calcutta import market had been active but closed very quietly. Produce was generally lower. Exchange, 2s. 1½d. for credits. Freights declining. Hong Kong Exchange, 4s. 6d. Shanghae, 6s. 2 1-10d. Freights were depressed at Hong Kong.

At Shanghae imports continued in brisk demand at unchanged prices. Settlements in silk continued at advanced prices. Prices of tea were extremely high. The stock was still very light and with little to come forward.

At Foo-Chow-Foo a good business had been done in tea at rather lower rates.

At Canton political affairs were becoming more quiet, but trade was dull.

A notification had been published threatening the bravesof Canton, and clearly expressing want of confidence with the Government of Pekin.

A Danish vessel had been driven away from the coast of Japan, no treaty having been concluded with Denmark; 150,000 men died of cholera in Jeddo during one month.

Lord ELGIN remained at Shanghae, and his future movements were not known.

The United States steamer Powhatan was at Hong Kong and the steamer Mississippi was in Canton River.

The crew of the American ship Oriental, charged with mutinous conduct on the morning of Christmas, whilst the ship was at anchor in the Roads, were acquitted at the close of their trial at Singapore. It appears the men had been illegally shipped, and at the time of shipping were informed the ship would proceed from Bombay to New-York, via Batavia. The Oriental, on the 3d of January, while lying at Singapore, was run into by a British bark, and seriously damaged.

Morphy in Paris—His Reputation—A Singular Game.

Correspondence of the New-York Times.

PARIS, Monday, March 14.

Mr. MORPHY, who does not leave for the United States for some weeks yet, continues to play chess at the Café de la Régence and in society against all comers, and invariably with the same remarkable success. People do not play with the American champion now with the expectation of beating him, but for the honor of being able to say in after time that they have played with him; because his reputation already surpasses that of PHILIDOR or LABOURDONNAIS in the time in which they lived. Lately the President of the London Chess Club, Mr. MONGREDIEU, came to Paris to satisfy himself as to the real merit of MORPHY'S playing, and as to the rank he ought to occupy. Mr. MONGREDIEU and Mr. MORPHY played eight games, one of which, the first one, was drawn, while the others were gained by Mr. MORPHY. In this trial of skill, two facts were remarked in regard to Mr. MORPHY'S playing, which are almost universally remarked in his games when contesting with a first-rate player. These are that he seldom wins the first game, and that up to say the twentieth move he rarely shows any superiority over his competitor. It is only after that point in the game that he commences those extraordinary and unlooked-for moves which astonish the audience and crush his antagonist beyond hope of recovery.

Mr. MORPHY is now engaged at the Café de la Régence in a most singular game of chess with a party of amateurs numbering one hundred. These hundred persons have subscribed to give Mr. MORPHY a public dinner before his departure, but before that event comes off they are playing a game thus: The hundred are divided into five sections of twenty each, who are to play among themselves until one of the twenty is acknowledged the victor of the others. When each of the categories shall have thus selected one of their number as their champion, the five champions are to play against MORPHY at odds graduated to the respective strength of each category.

The Sickles Affair in England—Sentiments of the English People.

From the London Times, March 16.

We published yesterday a very strange and a very sad story from Washington. With the recollection of Sir CRESSWELL CRESSWELL'S clients before our eyes, we are not about to fly into paroxysms of virtuous indignation because in the United States, as elsewhere, woman is sometimes frail, and man generally vindictive. Such things are of all ages and of all countries, and this Washington story about Mr. and Mrs. SICKLES and Mr. KEY might at any given season find its counterpart in the scandalous chronicles of any of the European capitals—London included. It is true, indeed, that the husband's vengeance was swift, savage and severe. Such is not the way in which such injuries are resented in England; but, according to the civilization of a country, so is the fashion of its revenge. One nation uses a stiletto, another a revolver, another an old flint-gun, a fourth a barrister. We employ the fourth weapon; in the United States the second comes more familiarly to the hand of an outraged husband. The remarkable part of this occurrence, then, as far as we are concerned, is the form which the husband's vengeance assumed. Had such a story as this happened in England, and had the husband in due course put his case into the hands of the family solicitor, and had that useful personage still in due course, feed counsel and brought it before the Judge Ordinary, we should scarcely have given the report a second glance. Deny it who may, the truth is that habit renders all persons but the immediate family, friends, and acquaintances of the parties to such suits, profoundly indifferent to the matter. We can hardly say if equal apathy exists on the other side of the Atlantic, when injuries of this class are avenged in the terrible fashion of this Washington tragedy. At first sight, the fact that an injured husband at once rushes to the conclusion that nothing but the blood of the adulterer can be accepted as an expiation for his wrong would seem to argue a higher conception of the marriage bond than the one which obtains among ourselves. We cannot, however, at the same time forget that American hands are swift to shed blood for injuries of a far inferior class to those of which we are speaking.

The form, then, of Mr. SICKLES' revenge was according to the fashion of his age and his country. We think it probable that had he been an Englishman, living in London, he would have acted otherwise. Take it, however, as you may, the story is a most lamentable one. In England much interest will be felt in it from the fact that the unfortunate young wife—and surely she is most unfortunate!—was known in the social circles of London. When Mr. BUCHANAN was Minister over here, her husband, Mr. SICKLES, was the Secretary of Legation. He was accompanied by his wife, a child in years, and still more a child in appearance. She excited interest in every one who met her in those days, and many an English friend will grieve at the termination of her brief career. The facts of the case may be told in a very few words—indeed, we had rather make as short a story of it as possible, for it is not one upon which the mind can rest without the most painful feelings. Mr. SICKLES was Secretary of Legation here in London, but on the election of Mr. BUCHANAN to the Presidency he returned to the United States and obtained the Democratic nomination for Congress from one of the metropolitan districts of New-York. In due course he went to Washington, taking with him his wife. Now, there was a certain Mr. PHILIP BARTON KEY, the nephew of the Chief Justice of the United States, who was the United States Attorney for the District of Columbia. In the discharge of his duties he also was at Washington, and thus an intimacy arose between him and Mrs. SICKLES, which seems speedily to have assumed a criminal character. Whether it was that her husband became distasteful to her, or that he neglected her, or that Mr. KEY possessed attractions which extinguished in her mind all sentiments of her position, all feeling of duty, it must, we fear, be admitted that the young wife became what she was not when she was known and admired here in London. Suspicion soon dogged the steps of the young wife and her paramour. As is usual in such cases, the husband was the last person to hear the history of his own dishonor. The connection between Mrs SICKLES and Mr. KEY, if we are to give exact dates, began in April of last year, was continued through last Winter, and renewed again at Washington during the present session of Congress. Impunity made them bold: they had not been discovered,—therefore they never would be discovered. Mr. KEY hired a house, where they used to meet. When her husband was away from home Mr. KEY would pass before the house, wave a handkerchief, and she would hurry out to meet him at their usual place of assignation; but now comes the terrible part of the story.

On Friday, the 25th of February, Mr. SICKLES was entertaining the President of the United States at dinner,—he at one end of the table, Mrs. SICKLES at the other. He knew nothing of the matter in hand. In the midst of the dinner a letter was delivered to him which revealed to him the history of his wife's shame and of his own dishonor. At the time he could, of course, say nothing and do nothing. There sat his young wife opposite him, and by her side the President. When the guests went away he began to consider grimly with himself what course he should adopt. That night he appears to have said or done nothing, but the early part of the next day was spent in a careful investigation of the facts. When he had acquired a reasonable degree of certainty Mr. SICKLES taxed his wife with her guilt. She screamed out that she was "betrayed and lost," but at length admitted the truth of the accusation. So far, all was clear—the question was how this grievous injury should be avenged? The account we have received from Washington states that in the course of that afternoon, while Mr. SICKLES was considering with himself what ought to be done, and was sitting at his window, he saw Mr. KEY approaching his house, and making the appointed signal to the lady whom he had brought to this terrible grief. Unable to master his emotion, the husband seized upon what weapons were near. These constituted a complete arsenal or armory—we question if many English gentlemen could, in a moment of indignation, suddenly stretch out their hands, as Mr. SICKLES did, and find ready two single-barreled pistols and a revolver. Having placed these weapons in his pockets he sallied forth, and, as Mr. KEY was extending his hand for a friendly grasp Mr. SICKLES exclaimed, "Now, villain, you must die!" and fired the first pistol at his enemy, but without effect. Mr. KEY hurled an opera-glass in his face, and a death grapple commenced, the one man trying to master the other's arm, the other endeavoring to discharge his second pistol. Mr. SICKLES prevailed, and with his second shot brought his enemy to the ground. So maddened with passion, however, was he that even when he had killed Mr. KEY he discharged a barrel of his revolver into the dead man's head, and with an oath rendered himself up to the officers of justice. Such are the leading facts of this miserable story, which we record with unfeigned sorrow, and which we are sure will be read with much commiseration by all persons in England who had any knowledge of the actors in the tragedy.

Statement of their Case by the Neapolitan Exiles.

From the Cork Reporter.

A deputation of the Neapolitan exiles, consisting of Canon DEL DRAGO, Priest BIANCHI, Dr. BRAICO, Advocate PICA, Professor SCIAVENTA, and a gentleman named SCHIAVONI, accompanied by an interpreter, waited upon the Mayor at his office. The deputation being introduced by the interpreter, the following translation was read:

"To the Right Worshipful the Mayor of Cork:

SIR: The undersigned Neapolitan political exiles, 66 in number, besides a woman and two children, landing on the British territory, make before you, principal citizen of the City of Cork, the following declaration:

We have all come out from the Neapolitan prisons and galleys. A decree of grace sends us to perpetual banishment from our own country, and with a ministerial order was inflicted on us a punishment which is not in our laws: that is, the transportation to America.

Immediately embarked in the steamer Stromboli, without a moment of time to see our families and provide for our interests, we started in a great hurry on the 17th day of January, towed by the steam frigate Ettore Fieramosca to Cadiz.

In the bay of Cadiz we demanded to be put ashore, but it was answered, that the Spanish Government would not receive us. Then we asked to pay, on board any English or French vessel, and it was replied that such a thing was not allowed, but we were to be positively transported to New-York. For twenty-five days we have been in the Bay of Cadiz, on board the Stromboli, without seeing or being seen by anybody.

Frankly we said to the Stromboli and Ettore Fieramosca commanders, and to the Neapolitan Consul at Cadiz, that we would take before the competent courts any ship's master that should transport us to New-York against our will. We wrote by the post to the Governor of Cadiz, and by chance reading in the Spanish newspaper La Palma of the 1st February, that the member of Parliament, Mr. OLOZAGA, spoke about us, so we wrote also to him, and sent a copy of our letter to the Governor, and another to the Piedmontese Consul. That is all we could do to let know our will, being prisoners and strictly kept.

Meanwhile it was negotiated with several Spanish and Dutch masters to charter their ships for conveying us to America. At last all was settled with Mr. SAMUEL PERKISS, master of the American clipper David Stewart, of Baltimore. This captain, without asking our will, and neither seeing us, signed the charter-party of transportation for the sum of $8,500.

Then we wrote a declaration, signed by all of us, in which we said that when we shall be on board an American ship, and free men, we will invoke the protection of United States laws, and prayed the captain to steer for the near Must succeed, for it is thoroughly well done.—Hon. Geo. Bancroft.

WE PUBLISH TO-DAY:
THE LIFE OF FREDERICK WILLIAM VON STEUBEN,
Major-General in the Army of the Revolution.
By FRIEDRICH KNAPP. With an Introduction by GEORGE BANCROFT.
Crown 8vo. 715 pages. Price, cloth, $1 75; half calf, $3.

The life of Steuben is one of the most interesting and eventful of the many brilliant and stirring scenes of the Eighteenth Century

Sprung from an old, noble and military family of Prussia, as a child he accompanied his father in his campaign in the Crimea, and during his sojourn in Russia; as a boy he was present at the siege of Prague; and, as a youth, he entered the service of Frederick the Great, the greatest commander of the age, and fought with distinction in the bloodiest engagements of the Seven Years War. Taken prisoner by the Russians he spent some time at the Court of St. Petersburg, and when set at liberty by Peter III., he remained, until the end of the war, attached to the personal staff of the great King. The calm which succeeded the stormy events of his youth was not destined to be everlasting. As soon as prospects of fame and active exertions were opened to him at Versailles, he threw up his agreeable but inactive appointment at home, and hastened to America, to devote his military knowledge and experience to the conquest of American liberty, and to fight under George Washington for the independence of the United States. His efforts were crowned with success; and, after the termination of the war, Steuben finally retired into private life, to end a career devoted to the public good, in honorable but unassuming poverty, in a rough log-house in the back woods.

From the Life of Steuben, p. 38.

Prague and Kunersdorf, Petersourg and Berlin, Versailles and Philadelphia, Yorktown and New-York, are the landmarks of this existence, which, however checkered and beset with difficulties, has left brilliant traces behind it, and justly deserves to be added to the records of American history, so that, from a solitary example, the student may learn what efforts and sacrifices were necessary to found and protect the state of things in the enjoyment of which the American nation lives happily and undisturbed.

From Introduction, by the Hon. George Bancroft.

The memory of Steuben has many claims upon the present generation. To the cause of our country in the times of its distress, he, at the sacrifice of a secure career, devoted the experience and skill which had been the fruit of long years of service under the greatest master of the art of war of that day. He rendered the inestimable benefit of introducing a better rule into the discipline of the American army, and stricter accountability in the distribution of military stores. He served under our flag with implicit fidelity, with indefatigable industry, and a courage that shrunk from no danger. His presence was important both in the camp and on the field of battle; from the huts of Valley Forge to Yorktown, and he remained with us till his death.

In a letter to the author Mr. Bancroft writes: "I have read your life of Steuben with admiration and instruction. * * * Your book must succeed, for it is thoroughly well done, and is deeply interesting, and a most valuable and now necessary contribution to the history of our revolution."

A NEW METHODIST JOURNAL.
The recently established LAYMAN'S ADVOCATE, in consequence of its unprecedented success has been greatly enlarged. It will in future (until the General Conference of 1860) be published under the title of THE METHODIST.
This Journal, as far as practicable, will represent the interests of all the branches of the great Methodist family. But it will devote itself, more particularly to the questions of reform now agitating the Methodist Episcopal Church. It will specially advocate Lay representation, (not coöperation,) indefinite extension of the time of ministerial services, and will give to the Church a new platform on the subject of Slavery.
It will be open to such full and free discussion as no OFFICIAL JOURNAL legitimately can be.
In a peculiar sense,—without touching upon the rights of any administration paper,—it will aim to be the organ of the METHODIST PEOPLE.
Published monthly, by WM. B. BARBER, at No. 54 Greenwich-st., New-York. Price $1, (until General Conference.)

NEWS OF THE DAY.

The columns of the New-York Times, this morning, contain intelligence of extraordinary moment from almost every quarter of the globe. By the arrival of the Persia, the Kangaroo and of the Niagara at Boston we are furnished with details of European intelligence for nine days ending upon March 19, with later news from India and China. The Northern Light from Aspinwall on the evening of March 22, brings eminently important advices from Central America, and the South Pacific. We are at the same time in possession of interesting news from the River Platte and the Paraguay squadron; from Brazil, from Hayti; from Honduras and lastly from Mexico.

The European intelligence is generally warlike in its tone, although at the last moment a reaction had taken place in the money market, indicating a more pacific direction. The belligerent character is lent to the news, by the continued activity of France, Austria and Sardinia, in preparation; and by an article in the official Moniteur, devoted to convincing the smaller German States of the folly of sustaining the Austrian policy in Italy. The tranquil feeling at the close was due to the rumor that Lord Cowley's mission had not been wholly unsuccessful. Lord Cowley had returned to London and after conferences with Ministers, had left for Paris, where he had been closeted with the Emperor. It was also stated, on the 18th, without designated authority, that both France and Austria had consented to suspend their armaments. Political affairs in England were without important change. It was generally thought that the Derby Ministry would resign, after the vote upon the second reading of the Reform bill was declared, and it was supposed that Lord John Russell, supported by the Liberals, would be invited to form a Ministry. Active efforts were making to aid the Neapolitan prisoners, some of whom had arrived in London. A committee, embodying the most eminent names in Great Britain, had been constituted, and was receiving subscriptions. Mr. Preston, the American Minister at Madrid, was received at a private audience on the 12th inst. The King of Naples is still extremely ill.

From the City of Mexico we have our correspondence to March 2. The Administration was collecting its forced loans with unsparing vigor, regardless of the nationality of the victims. The intelligence from the interior was all favorable to the Liberal interest.

The most important intelligence from the South Pacific is the announcement of an unsuccessful revolutionary attempt at Valparaiso, Feb. 28, resulting in the defeat of the insurgents. The American Consulate was riddled with the balls of the combatants. The Government was generally successful in its operations against the Liberals. There had also been an unsuccessful revolutionary movement in Bolivia. Peru was quiet.

The Central American advices are of unusual interest. M. Belly had arrived in Nicaragua; and immediately after, March 11, the Government had sent a body of troops to seize the American Transit steamers. The persons in charge were expelled at the point of the bayonet; the American colors hauled down, and the two boats delivered up to M. Belly, who was at once to be put in possession of all the important points on the route. The American Consul was said to have been roughly handled in the course of this business. The intelligence of the ratification of the Ouseley Treaties is confirmed.

By the way of England, we received our files of papers from Brazil and the River Plate, to the latest dates. The decree of the Oriental Republic, expelling the Jesuits, was issued Jan. 26. The Superior left immediately. The rest were to follow at the earliest opportunity. In the meantime they had sought refuge at the Spanish Legation, which, however, was closed against them.

Our dates from Belize, Honduras, are to March 2. Trade was dull; provisions in demand. The British bark Emily Shaw was wrecked Feb. 16, while entering the port. A new law raises the rate of duties 150 per cent.

Advices from Hayti to March 5, apprize us that the movement of the new Government was still satisfactory. General Geffrard had addressed the Governors of the Departments in a circular, recommending the stern administration of justice. On the 28th ult. the Captain of the United States man-of-war Brooklyn was presented by the American Consul to the President, and was courteously received. There is evidence in the news that the deposed Emperor Soulouque has numerous friends on the Island.

Considerable business of interest was transacted by the Legislature yesterday. In the Senate, the bill to charter the New-York Observatory was ordered to a third reading. The bill to protect the liberty of witnesses was discussed in Committee of the Whole and amended so as to prevent the provisions of the act from applying to cases involving the penalty of death. The Registry bill was discussed during the evening session, but no definite action was taken. A bill was introduced to create a second Health Officer—the fees to remain as at present, and to be divided. The Central Park bill was reported complete, and ordered to a third reading. In the Assembly, the bill to authorize the opening of a street through Trinity Church-yard was reported favorably, and a long debate ensued, which resulted in its recommittal, with instructions to modify it. The report in favor of repealing the act authorizing a subscription in aid of the National Monument in Independence-square, Philadelphia, came up for discussion, and it was finally laid on the table. The Personal Liberty bill was discussed during the evening session, but no definite action was taken upon it. A number of important bills are in readiness to be reported from the Grinding Committee. The New-York Tax bill will come up as the special order to-day.

In Cincinnati, Deputy United States Marshal Manson has been arrested on a charge of kidnapping, for having assisted in the rendition of a fugitive slave to his master in Kentucky.

The steamer which accidentally sunk the sloop near Hastings on Monday evening, was not the North America, as supposed, but the Knickerbocker, the captain of which attributes the accident to the fact that the sloop's course was suddenly altered, she being luffed across the steamer's bow, at the instant it was impossible to avoid a collision.

A suit for $112,000 against the Chillicothe Branch of the State Bank of Ohio has been commenced in Cincinnati, by Benj. Deford, of Baltimore, the ground of action being the alleged indorsement by the Bank officers of a mercantile firm which subsequently proved irresponsible.

Yesterday, sales were made of 2,800 bales Cotton, about half in transitu, at prices somewhat more favorable to buyers. Flour was in better request and desirable lots were firm. Grain was quiet. The sales of Coffee, Fish, Fruit, Hay, Hides, Rice and Tallow were moderate. A fair business was transacted in Sugars, Molasses, Sole Leather and Whisky. 3,700 bbls. Common Resin changed hands at $1 60@$1 62½ ₱ 310 lbs. Provisions continued depressed. The freight engagements were light. The total number of vessels of all classes in port was 597.

The Cattle Markets were scantily supplied yesterday, and prices advanced fully $1 ₱ cwt. The animals were much inferior to those of the previous week, and of lighter weights, thus adding to the diminished supply. Only 1,933 head were offered at Forty-fourth-street, and of these some 900 were sold on Tuesday, leaving but about 1,000 head for yesterday. Good cattle readily brought 11½c.@12c. ₱ lb., while nothing at all decent went below 10c. The average of the market was about 10½c. The footings at all the markets give but 2,525 for the week, or 628 less than last week, and 1,121 less than the corresponding week of last year. Veal is in fair supply at former rates, Mutton scarce and high, and Pork more abundant at a slight decline in prices.

England and the European Crisis.

England has risen like one man to welcome to her free and hospitable shores the exiles of Neapolitan tyranny. Poerio, Settembrini, and their companions, men whose only crime, proved against them in the most merciless of courts, and after the most cruel of inquisitions, was this, that they mistook a Bourbon for a gentleman, and a King of Naples for an honest man—have been received in England as the elect and honorable representatives of that cause to which many English Governments have, in succession, played the traitor, but to which the English people are and always have been and always will be loyal—the cause of constitutional liberty, and of righteous independence. Men of the highest rank and of the widest renown; men eminent for official station, or by personal ability; men whose fame recalls the illustrious past, and men whose capacity prognosticates the future, of Parliamentary England, have united in doing honor to these waifs of Italian freedom, cast by a happy accident upon the courtesy and the courage of the British Islands. The Marquis of Lansdowne, Lord Lyndhurst, Lord Cranworth, lend the conservative voice of experience to the appeal which has been made for practical sympathy with these victims of an almost unparalleled tyranny. The laws of England speak to the same effect through the Lord Chief Justice, the Recorder of London, the Master of the Rolls, and the Attorney-General. The Church joins her protest in their behalf by the venerated names of the Lord Bishop of London, the Deans of St. Paul's and Westminister, Millman and French. The world of finance and industry is represented by Lord Overstone and Lord Belper, Mr. Glyn, Mr Hodgson and Mr. Grenfell. Literature responds to the call with Thackeray and Dickens, Kinglake and Layard, Reeve, Milnes and Sterling. The political circles send up not only their younger and more enthusiastic men like the Earl of Ripon and Sir John Ramsden, but their tried leaders, Shaftesbury and Vernon Smith, Palmerston and Russell, Carlisle, Clarendon and Granville, Milner, Gibson, Horsman, Gladstone, Sir George Grey, the careful head of the careful house of Labouchere, range themselves side by side with Lord Broughton, who approves himself in his age as faithful to the cause which Byron loved as Hobhouse was in his youth; and it would be hard, indeed, to say what department of English life has forborne to show itself ready and anxious, through its most conspicuous representatives, to let the whole world know how heartily England hates and despises the false, double-minded and cowardly régime which Austria has undertaken to maintain in the fairest regions of the Italian peninsula. Subscriptions are pouring in upon this suddenly-constituted "Neapolitan Committee," which will abundantly suffice to make the exiles comfortable during their stay in England. But this is the least part of the work which the Committee will have accomplished before they close their labors. The practical, political, European and world-wide effect of their organization will be to give the most impressive and effectual moral impulse to that cause of which the Emperor of the French has assumed the diplomatic, as he is ready to assume the military leadership. The people of the Continental States have not yet learned to understand the curious and complicated system of English life. They have not yet begun to comprehend how Englishmen of rank, and multitudes of English subjects, can avow their public support of a cause which the Government of England shrinks from taking up in its official capacity; and the demonstration which so many illustrious Englishmen are now making of their cordial good-will towards Italy, will reach Vienna and traverse Germany, and rouse the people of Lombardy almost like a declaration of war against Naples and Austria at the Exchange of London.

It is true Lord Shaftesbury, in his appeal as President of the Neapolitan Association, was at the pains of asserting in the usual imbecile way, that England did not mean to indorse any movement for the overthrow of existing order in Italy. But Europe has not yet forgotten that Lord John Russell, in March, 1853, distinctly assured the Czar of his belief in the existence and authority of certain treaties of Protectorate of which England not a twelvemonth afterward proclaimed her perfect contempt and skepticism through the cannon of the Crimea. To all intents and purposes the recent display of feeling called forth in England by the arrival of the Neapolitan exiles, has been not only an honorable vindication of the English people from the charge of indifference to liberty on the Continent, but also a formidable indorsement of the policy of France.

It certainly, therefore, will not tend to delay the outbreak of this catastrophe now become virtually a question rather of weeks than of months; a contingency upon certain casual explosions of popular feeling rather than a question of international diplomacy. It will inflame the already fiery temper of the Austrian army, and excite the already angry spirit of the Austrian ruling classes. It will inspire the Italian patriots with new hopes and new energy. It will confirm the French Emperor in his reliance upon the intimate verdict of all free governments and independent nations. If England has a right to fling her glove in the face of Naples by treating those men as martyrs whom Naples has treated as criminals, France certainly has an equal right to tell Austria plainly that she will not suffer the manufacture of conspiracy and revolution to be any longer carried on within reach of her frontiers.

Both in England and in France the most quiet and thoughtful observers would seem to have abandoned the expectation of any but a warlike solution of the problem now pressing upon Europe. The English funds are indeed maintained with considerable firmness, but this fact is attributable, as the first financial authorities of England and the best private correspondence assure us, rather to the pressure of unemployed capital, and to the mercantile profits consequent upon the reaction from the depressions of 1857, than to any confidence in the maintenance of Continental peace. Sardinia is pushing her outposts steadily forward to meet the Austrian advance upon her frontiers. France has ordered a powerful corps d'armée to move towards the Southeastern departments, in readiness to flank the first serious development of the Sardinian positions against Austria. Italy is stirring throughout her length and breadth, and the vague, feverish disposition of certain of the smaller German Courts to excite a popular feeling against the Emperor of the French, is menaced now not merely by the neutral attitude of Prussia, but by the far more important and decisive display of Russian sympathy with the French policy. The collision of Italy and France with Austria would seem indeed to have been rather precipitated than delayed by the else fruitless mission of Lord Cowley to Vienna.

The Reform Bill in England.

The London Times continues to express the opinion, in which we have little doubt that it speaks the mind of the majority of intelligent Englishmen, that the Reform bill of the Derby Ministry is substantially as sound and good a measure as can be fairly hoped for in the present aspect of English affairs. The Government measure is susceptible of modifications liberal enough to meet the real wishes of the mass of the Liberal party, while it can only be really replaced, and the Cabinet really overthrown, by the introduction of such a bill as would seriously alarm and disturb the public mind of Great Britain. On this ground the Times, while continuing its general hostility to the actual Ministry, affords a qualified support to the proposition of Mr. Disraeli, and deprecates either a dissolution of Parliament or a change of administration during the present session of Parliament.

It is not easy, indeed, to see what positive advantage could be expected to accrue to Liberalism in England from a substitution of Lord John Russell, with a mongrel Cabinet of Whigs and Radicals, in the place of Lord Derby and Mr. Disraeli; while a temporary suspension of the session of Parliament and a general election could hardly fail to affect the influence of England unfavorably, in the presence of the grave complication, in which the affairs of Europe are now involved.

Lord John Russell is, however, understood to be doing his best to make his way back to power. He has effected an arrangement with Lord Palmerston, and, according to the rather questionable authority of his Ministerial opponents, with Mr. Bright, Mr. Ayrton and Mr. Roebuck, who have agreed to accept office under him, should he be called upon by the Queen to form a new Government. A coalition between the Washington National Intelligencer and the New-York Tribune would not be more surprising; nor would it possess less weight in this country than any extemporized alliance in Great Britain between the followers of Russell and the school of Manchester and Birmingham. However weary the English people may be of a Government like that of Lord Derby, which holds power by an avowed abandonment of principle, it is not at all probable that they would hail with any special satisfaction so very feeble a substitute as is offered to them by this new combination. Should Lord John Russell succeed in ousting Lord Derby on the question of his own as opposed to Lord Derby's "Reform" Bill, and should he bring into power with him on the same question, such Radicals as Roebuck and Bright, the only result of the change would be the complete eventual annihilation, in a political sense, as well of Lord John's allies as of "little Finality" himself. The only real ministerial progress to be looked for in England, must come with the accession to power of a new set of leaders, conservative by position, liberal in principles, and free from the damaging antecedents of the ancient chieftains of the two great but now thoroughly demoralized parties, which have so long divided the political world of England between them.

Important from Nicaragua.

Events seem hastening towards a crisis in Nicaragua. The British Minister has secured the ratification of his treaty; the Frenchman, M. Belly, has entered upon the construction of his canal; President Martinez is alarmed at rumored invasions of fillibusters,—and our Government seems likely to be absolutely driven from its attitude of indifference and supineness.

The Northern Light brings intelligence of the seizure of the vessels belonging to the American Transit Company. The immediate pretext for this measure was a rumor of a party of fillibusters having actually landed at San Juan del Sur; a rumor with no better foundation than the landing of a party of sailors from the sloop-of-war Decatur for a day's enjoyment on the beach. But with true Spanish-American instincts the Nicaraguans turned their backs on the imaginary invaders; hastened away in an opposite direction, and reaching the anchorage of the two American boats, took possession of them at the point of the bayonet. Our information adds that the booty thus gallantly acquired was at once transferred to M. Belly, along with two or three fortifications and other peaceful engines of such canal-digging as he is about to institute. It is, of course, not impossible that the bold step thus taken may have been prompted by the enterprising Frenchman. It is more likely, however, to be the first ebullition of the new anti-American courage, inspired by the ratification of the Ouseley treaties, and strengthened by the presence of the representative—for as such M. Belly passes current in Central America—of the French Emperor.

It is by no means impossible that the Government of Nicaragua may have an actual invasion of fillibusters to deal with. Walker has gone to San Francisco,—where two or three of his trusty Lieutenants have preceded him,—where adventurers of various sorts have been collecting for some weeks, and whither, if report do not mislead us, arms and munitions of war have for some time past been quietly sent. All this may portend something else, but it looks very much like a projected descent upon Nicaragua from the Pacific side.

But the seizure of the boats of the Transit Company is an invasion of American rights, and a trespass upon American property, which cannot pass unchallenged. If the President proves true to his pledges, and Gen. Cass maintains the doctrines of his letter to Lamar, we shall speedily have this wrangle brought to a close. The best thing the President can do is to recall Lamar, send a competent man to take his place, and put one or two men-of-war at his disposal. This whole matter has been trifled with too long already.

Imprisonment of Witnesses.—Whatever bills may be left over by the present session, we trust the one designed to abolish the imprisonment of witnesses, will not be of the number. Let the Grinding Committee see to it. We have a maxim that even in the case of persons charged with crime, it is better to allow ten guilty to escape than to punish one who is innocent. But in our dealing with witnesses, we too often punish not only the guiltless, but those who are not even accused. Under the present law and practice it may easily occur and in many cases does actually happen, that the culprit, being able to give bail, is allowed to go his way, while a witness whose misfortune it was to see the crime committed is incarcerated for months to secure his appearance on the trial. Such legal outrages have been tolerated quite long enough.

That it is desirable to ensure the attendance of witnesses is freely admitted. The arrest and examination of offenders, even when they go at large on bail, is attended with expense, the cost to the public being of course still greater when the defendant is imprisoned to await his trial. It may be said that all this outlay is liable to be lost, and the guilty to go unpunished, unless power is given to compel witnesses to be present when wanted. Yet though this be granted, it furnishes no good reason for depriving a man of his liberty who is not charged with offence, and making him the associate of felons within the inclosures of a common jail. If the Legislature desires to distinguish its present session by the passage of a Personal Liberty Bill, here is an excellent opportunity.

A Precious Commodity of Epithets.—The Washington Union has been sold to General Bowman, who is to take charge of the President's organ on the 11th of April; but, the present Editor appears determined to make use of the little time left him, to work off all his bad blood and acrid humors, while he has an outlet at his command for ventilating his bilious feelings. On Tuesday the Union contained a painfully unamiable attack upon the President's next friend, the Editor of the Herald, who it prophesies will have to "Take rank in the rear of the supercilious, pedantic, erotic Tribune; the conceited, scurrilous, juggling Times; the mendacious, flippant, blackguard Evening Post, and the passé corrupt and aristocratic Courier and Enquirer."

It is a long time since the Union has shown so much vigor as the array of this precious commodity of epithets indicates. But we have no doubt there is a plenty more of a similar character where these came from, and between this and the 11th of next month, a succession of such choice adjectives may be anticipated. It is a "dying strain," no doubt; but, unless it proves an over strain, it will be repeated.

A Touching Scene.—After his usual Wednesday evening lecture, last night, the Rev. Mr. Beecher presented to his congregation the case of a slave mother in Virginia who had been freed with her five children by the will of her deceased mistress,—but whom the heirs, availing themselves of legal technicalities, had again reduced to slavery. A humane slave-dealer had bought them all for $1,000, and had offered the mother their freedom for the same amount,—at the same time allowing her to come North, with one of her children, to raise the money—taking her word of honor that she would return. She had collected $500 in Philadelphia, and now solicited $500 more. Mr. B. called on her to stand up. She rose—as white, as free apparently from all taint of negro blood, in hue or hair or speech or manner, as any member of that congregation! And her little brown-haired boy was as sweet a child as any mother fondles in New-York. Over $300 were collected on the spot; the remaining $200, we cannot doubt, will be sent to Mr. Beecher early this morning. It is in all its aspects one of the most meritorious appeals ever made to the charity of a rich and benevolent community.

Latest from Arizona and Sonora.

A NEW DODGE OF PESQUIERA—MOVEMENTS OF THE MEXICAN TROOPS—CONDITION OF SONORA—THE AMERICAN FRIGATE.

The latest move of Gen. Pesquiera, the Governor of Sonora, is the establishment of a colony in that State, recruited from California. The Eco del Pacifico publishes the following extract from a letter adressed by the Governor to a Spanish gentleman in San Francisco. The date is Alamos, Dec. 10, 1858:

"I have written to-day to the Mexican Emigration Society in Los Angeles to aid them in their labors, and authorizing them to make contracts with ship captains for the passage of all those who are unable to pay with their own money. I wish to form a pretty colony on the banks of the River Mayo, or on the frontier, or wherever the colonists may prefer. I beg you to use every effort to make my enterprise successful."

Correspondence of the New-York Times.

Tubac, A. T., Monday, March 7, 1859.

We have intelligence from Guaymas up to the 20th of February. The only item of interest in the way of news is the withdrawal of Pesquiera's troops from around Mazatlan; having raised the siege about the 12th, and retired. His withdrawal was caused by the defeat of the Liberal party elsewhere, which permitted the Church party to order large forces to their assistance.

Politically Sonora is tolerably quiet, although there is much grumbling owing to an addition of 25 per cent. to their taxes. The feeling yet continues strong among the landholders against annexation to the United States. Heavy taxes may induce them to change their mind.

The sloop-of-war Vandalia had left Guaymas, and the Saranac had arrived. The arrival of these naval vessels have been a great relief to the American and other foreign citizens of the City. Trade of all kinds was dull. TUBAC.

Mr. Farley and the Corporation Judgments—Note from Mr. Farley.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

In an editorial article in your issue of yesterday, about judgments against the City, you mention my name as one of those who have largely drawn on the City Treasury by means of fraudulent suits. Now, this does me very great injustice, as I have not now, nor have I had at a any time to which your remarks can refer, any judgments against the City. That the Corporation is indebted to me in a pretty round sum for work contracted for, and ordered by its official agents, is the fact of the case, not that I have recovered large sums from the Corporation for work never done.

This is not the time, nor do I wish to trespass on your space, by entering into a discussion of the justice of my claims against the City, but I feel that it is due to my character to flatly contradict the assertions, and to correct the insinuations contained in yesterday's Times. Yours, very respectfully,

TERENCE FARLEY.

A Card from Mr. Jewett.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

Your California news this morning, referring to "Major F. Alton Wheelock"—alludes to my absence from the State in connection with the Pacific Railroad and to Mr. Wheelock as my partner. It is due to my character and the respectable connections of Mr. Wheelock, to state that at the time alluded to the firm of Jewett, Green & Co. was established Mr. Green contributing large means. Mr. Wheelock on his arrival, well indorsed with letters of credit and certificates of deposit, desired to enter the firm as a partner. He was admitted—Mr. Green] with drawing a considerable sum, and Mr. Wheelock replacing the amount with said certificates, which were forwarded through Alsop & Co., and Wells, Fargo & Co., for collection. Two weeks after, I concluded from certain circumstances, that they were not genuine, and immediately demanded his withdrawal, which he acceded to. Mr. Green resuming his former position. Five weeks after, the certificates and drafts were returned. These facts being generally known, I am surprised that your correspondent should at all connect my name with Wheelee's. From my own observation, and conversations with Mr. Wheelock's brother—a member of a leading firm of this City—I am convinced his acts result from a deranged mind, and he is more an object of pity than censure. As to the railroad, I advocated it with disinterested zeal during the late session, as due to California and the interests of the country. If President Buchanan, with all his influence, could not command the measure, I, as an independent advocate, need not feel deeply its ill success.

WM. CORNELL JEWETT.

NEWS BY TELEGRAPH.

FROM WASHINGTON.

The Sickles Case—Preparations for the Defence—Dispatches from the Home and Pacific Squadrons—The Boston Post-office, &c.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

Washington, Wednesday, March 30.

Mr. Sickles is busily engaged with his counsel in preparing for his defence. The impression is that the District-Attorney will have no assistance, as he needs none, the case on the part of the Government being entirely simple. The facts to be presented by the District-Attorney are few and easily proven—the fact and the manner of the killing, and the identity of the accused. Here the case closes on the part of the Government, and Mr. Ould regards himself as fully competent to discharge this duty. The duty and labor of the defence are very different. Admitting the facts as charged, they have to make out a case of justification; which, if they can succeed in doing to the satisfaction of the Court and Jury, Mr. Sickles must stand acquitted.

The Navy Department has just received a large batch of dispatches from the Home and Pacific squadrons, but they contain nothing of special interest.

Henry R. Day, of Iowa, was to-day appointed Purser in the United States Navy vice Frederick N. Wise, of Kentucky, declined, and B. S. Schoonover, of Pennsylvania, as Indian Agent at the Upper Missouri agency.

I have reason to believe that the subject of Cuba is again occupying the attention of the Cabinet.

There is no longer any prospect of blending the States and the Union of this city into one paper, as had been anticipated by some of the parties in interest.

Senator Douglas left this afternoon for the North. He was invited to address the Democracy of Connecticut, but prior engagements prevented. Q.

[FROM THE REPORTER FOR THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Washington, Wednesday, March 30.

The Postmaster-General has addressed a letter to Gen. Schouler, on the part of the remonstrants, in which he says the question to be determined is what shall be the amount and form of indemnity attending the removal of the Boston Post-office back to the former building. The indemnity must assume such a shape as will secure beyond all doubt the payment of the rent of $12,000 for the Summer-street office as it shall fall due, and to that end a deposit in the Sub-Treasury of that sum to the credit of the Government must be made. If it be true that the State-street location cannot be secured except at a larger sum than has been heretofore paid, the difference between the rent formerly paid and that which may now be exacted, should be added. The Postmaster-General says he is in expectation of a communication on the subject, and that other additional expenses may enter into the consideration. As soon as the facts are ascertained, due notice will be communicated to those interested.

The Post-office Department has dispatched two agents to the South, with instructions promptly to report all causes of the repeated failure of mails to connect with the incomplete railroads in Mississippi; the object being to remedy the evil and enforce compliance with the contract for the conveyance of the mails between New-Orleans and Washington within schedule time.

Advices from Fort Yuma give very discouraging accounts of the gold gatherings in that vicinity.

Bernard S. Schoonover, of Pennsylvania, is appointed Agent for the Indians on the Upper Missouri.

Senator Yulee, who has been very ill since the adjournment of Congress, is now convalescent.

According to letters received from Lieutenant Brooke, commanding the United States schooner Fenimore Cooper, now engaged in surveying the route between San Francisco and China and Japan, the guano island taken possession of by him contains, at the lowest calculation, 25,000 tons of guano. The results of the survey, thus far, notwithstanding the smallness of the outfit, are regarded of high value to our commercial marine.

The Liberty Bill Defeated in the Massachusetts Legislature.

Boston, Wednesday, March 30.

In the House this afternoon, at the close of a long debate, the vote was taken upon the Liberty bill. Mr. Wells, of Greenfield, one of the Republican leaders, asked to be excused from voting, but the House refused, when he voted against the bill. The bill was defeated by a vote, Yeas 106, Nays 109.

THE PRESIDENT'S CIRCULAR—LOCAL AFFAIRS—PRESENTATION OF AN AMERICAN COMMANDER TO THE PRESIDENT—CAPTAIN FARRAGUT'S SPEECH—SIGNS OF DISAFFECTION.

We have received Hayti files to March 5.

President Geffrard had issued a circular to the Governors of the various Departments in the Republic, advising a mild as well as firm administration of justice, and discouraging the severe bodily punishments in vogue during the Empire.

Various police and other local reforms occupy the attention of the citizens of Port-au-Prince.

On the 28th of February, the Consul of the United States presented to President Geffrard, Captain Farragut and the chief officers of the American steam-corvette Brooklyn. The captain addressed the President in French, as follows:

"Mr. President: I fear that my limited knowledge of French will interfere with the full expression of my true sentiments.

When the news of the revolution arrived in the United States, I was dispatched by my Government to protect my countrymen in Hayti. I left, expecting to find the country in a state of frightful anarchy, but what was my astonishment and admiration on discovering the revolution ended, the Republic proclaimed, life and property respected, and order maintained. In you, Mr. President, I acknowledge the author of this happy result, and it is with pleasure that I applaud your patriotism and wisdom.

I trust that under the new rule the country will prosper, and I am induced to believe that my visit to you will be profitable to my own Government."

The President thanked Captain Farragut with courtesy and modesty, attributing to a Supreme Power the success of the revolution.

The President had a slight difficulty with the editor of the Revue de Commerce, which was settled by a personal interview, not before some rumors of a suppression of the paper. A popular preacher had delivered a sermon, inveighing against the journalist that had published the curious litany against Soulouque, republished in the American papers some time ago. These and other facts indicate a still lingering sympathy for the deposed Emperor, in spite of the popularity of Geffrard.—Evening Post.

The clergy of Trenton, N. J., have published a card to say that they have unanimously agreed to begin funeral exercises punctually at the appointed hour, to avoid the inconveniences arising from the ordinary delays. The signatures of eleven ministers are appended. It is, also, suggested that funerals be not appointed for Sunday.

INTERESTING FROM MEXICO.

The American Mails Plundered—Exactions of the Forced Loan—Miramon at Orizaba—The Government a Despotism.

From Our Own Correspondent.

City of Mexico, Wednesday, March 2, 1859.

We are now hemmed in here most completely, and are suffering a tyranny of the most despotic character. The last mail for the States from here was seized by Miramon. Many letters were extracted and read, and a great portion of the mail has been entirely appropriated by our present semi-barbarous President. A small portion of the letters for abroad were sent on to Vera Cruz, but it is doubtful if they reached there in time. It is very certain they did not, as the mail must have been at least thirty-six hours behind time. This mail was under the seal and passport of the United States Consul.

The forced loan is now being enforced, without fear or favor, against natives and foreigners. The pressing necessities of Miramon, to push ahead his campaign against Vera Cruz, are such that the loans on the capitals of several persons have already been trebled, and twenty-five per cent. added to the loan after that process. It is said, and I believe it, that the present loan will be found inadequate to the wants of the times, and that another loan, "for once only," will be imposed in this month. In truth, I do not see how the Government is to get on without several more loans.

The news from all quarters in the interior shows a gradual rising and supremacy of the Constitutionalists. The Government forces are now reduced to the few capitals of Guadalajara, San Luis, Guanajuato, Queretaro and Colima. All the small towns around those places are filled with Federalists. Zacatecas has fallen, and San Luis is threatened. Altogether there are some 1,000 men up in arms in the interior.

You will doubtless have heard of the proposed search of the Tennessee at Vera Cruz by the French fleet, and of the prompt action of the commander of the Saratoga to prevent the search. The friendly interference of the English commander appears to have stopped the search, and thereby a most disagreeable difficulty. The whole blame of this affair belongs to M. de Gabriac, the officious partisan tool of the Church Party here, and Minister of France, who, for some strange reason, is sustained in his position in this country.

Miramon is still at Orizaba, but is expected to move on from there very soon. A portion of his forces extend as far as Cordova, which is now the advanced post of the Government lines.

The feeling here in favor of Miramon is daily growing weaker. The Santanistas, Almontistas, Zulosagistas, and Constitutionalists, are all at work. Miramon has the smallest party of any one. His own ministry hate but fear him. He only keeps his feet through the fear he inspires. But if he fails at Vera Cruz he is a lost man. He will then have filled the comparison of "going up like a rocket and coming down like a stick."

If Vera Cruz be not reduced through the treason of its own garrison, Miramon is sure of defeat there. Nothing is more certain. But Miramon has plenty of money to bribe the people of Vera Cruz with, and the Constitutionalists has little or nothing with which to keep this garrison faithful. It is said Miramon has $1,000,000 to devote to bribery and corruption at Vera Cruz.

A number of persons (foreigners) have lately been imprisoned here, for what, no one knows. Two of the victims are most worthy, good mechanics, against whom no one can say anything. One of them has that unfortunate name of Smith. This seems to be the name of a person who has been doing private business for the Liberals, and it was enough that the poor mechanic had the same name to have him put in prison. This is a fair specimen of the way in which government and justice are administered here.

In a day or so I hope to be able to send you another letter in time for the Tennessee from Vera Cruz on the 8th inst.

FROM PARAGUAY.

Interesting from the Paraguay Expedition—Commissioner Bowlin at Parana—Mediation of Urquiza Declined.

Correspondence of the New-York Times.

Buenos Ayres, Friday, Jan. 28, 1859.

The news from up the river has assumed a phase of considerable importance. The Fulton, as I have already informed you, left Rosario on the 9th inst. and arrived the next day at Parana, the provisional capital of the Argentine Confederation. Here Commissioner Bowlin had an interview with General Urquiza, the first Constitutional President, who had come from his cattle-farm, (estancia,) of San José—65 leagues distant—for that purpose. The offer of his mediation was declined, but his good offices were accepted. The next day the Fulton proceeded on her way to Asuncion, and is now doubtless laying down the law to old Lopez.

But this community has been surprised by the news that General Urquiza in person embarked with his family—female and political—on the 15th inst. for Paraguay, on board of Lopez's steamer, Salto de Guayra—the same one which came here and landed jerk-beef with which to feed Lopez's soldiers. A move on the part of the Argentine President of so little dignity as this, wherein he leads his own country to mix in person in the affairs of his neighbors, presages some deep-laid intrigue, which, if successful, boces no good for their countries. His treaties with Brazil have not brought him the force he desired to war on Buenos Ayres with, and he now turns his eye to his last hope—Paraguay—where he can get men and vessels. His intrigues do not, however, alter the security of Buenos Ayres, and peace will not be interrupted by Urquiza.

Montevideo has also sent up a mediating Minister to Paraguay, in the person of a Mr. Mendez, a former protégé of the famous assassin Oribe, and he has taken passage in the American war-steamer Southern Star.

The Press of Montevideo and the Confederation continue to assert that we have accepted the mediation of their respective countries in our difficulties with Paraguay. Inasmuch as they are devoid of shame, the day of public contradiction has no fears for them. N.

Revolution at Valparaiso---Defeat of the Patriots.

Arrival of M. Belly in Nicaragua.

Seizure of the American Transit Steamers.

THE OUSELEY TREATIES UNDOUBTEDLY RATIFIED.

The Northern Light, of the Vanderbilt new line of California steamships, E. L. TINKLEPAUGH, commanding, from Aspinwall on the night of the 22d, with 670 passengers, and $136,880 in treasure—brought by the steamer Orizaba from San Francisco on the 5th inst. to Panama—arrived at her dock last evening at 8:45.

Consequent on the very efficient arrangements provided at Acapulco for the "new line," the Orizaba was filled up with coals and fresh stores, to enable her to leave Panama without any detention whatever, giving thereby the outward passengers and freight by this ship an unusually expeditious dispatch.

By this arrival are brought the latest dates and mails from ports in the South Pacific, which reached the Isthmus betimes for this departure, by the English Mail steamer Cloda.

Captain TINKLEPAUGH from this source received reliable accounts of another abortive revolution having taken place on Feb. 26, at the City of Valparaiso—the battle, after a gallant struggle of some four hours, resulting adverse to the patriots.

During the melée the American Consulate was riddled by shots: but with what motive or by which party, was unknown at the departure of the steamer. It would, however, be made forthwith the special subject of official inquiry by the United States Minister.

The vigilant censorship over the Press precludes the possibility of ascertaining, with any certainty, the terror of the Government at this bold and sudden outbreak. Still enough is gleaned that the revolutionary movement throughout the Republic has already become dangerously powerful and popular—many of the best and most influential names in the country actively supporting it.

Nicaraguan intelligence by the English mail steamer Dee from Greytown is piquant and startling.

The United States sloop-of-war Decatur having anchored at one of the numerous coves, near San Juan del Sur, on the Pacific, was taken for an American filibuster. The President, on being apprised, ordered out 300 troops, and, personally commanding, took the "Transit" road, for the purpose of resisting the landing, but had not quite reached the shore before being met by a special courier, giving the true character of the stranger. A retreat was then made, burning or otherwise destroying every bridge they passed over.

Meanwhile, a French officer, heading a small military detachment, crossed the lake to the river San Juan where they violently seized the White steamers, and forcibly imprisoning their Captains and crews. They were not released when the Dee left.

Mons. BELLY, with 40 officers and men, arrived at Greytown on the 15th ult., being the pioneer staff for the construction of the Canal, who will be semi-monthly reinforced by the English steamers with 50 Frenchmen.

Forts Castillo and San Carlos are to be given up for their head-quarters immediately—rather a significant circumstance, however, when coupled with the fact that some of the corps are of Algerian and Crimean fame. Col. COOPER, an English topographer, is also on the ground.

The three Ouseley treaties have been ratified to a dead certainty.

The workshops and houses on Punta Arenas, belonging to the Accessory Transit Co., have all been swept away by the sea.

Greytown harbor is rapidly filling up; the entrance thereto is inaccessible by ocean steamers, being narrowed down to less than forty feet.

Excitement in Nicaragua—Seizure of the Transit Steamers—A Decree Respecting the Transit—A Proclamation.

From Our Own Correspondent.

ASPINWALL, Tuesday, March 22, 1859.

The Clyde arrived last evening from San Juan del Norte. SCHLESSINGER, ex-filibuster and transit agent for the "commodores," came passenger in her, and also Lieut. EDWARDS, with dispatches for Flag-officer MCCLUNEY, here. Matters seem to be drawing to a crisis in American matters in Nicaragua. It appears that about the time BELLY reached San Juan, reports were spread that a cargo of American filibusters had landed, or were to land, at San Juan del Sur. I understand that the report was spread by some persons that a force had actually landed, growing out of the fact that a few of the Decatur's marines and officers were seen a little ways in from the shore, on the Transit road at San Juan del Sur. Upon this, a party was organized, of officers and soldiers of the Government, who went to Castillo, seized two of the American boats there, the Cass-Yrissari and the Catharine Maria, by driving the officers and men on shore at the point of the bayonet, and then pulling down the American and running up the Nicaraguan flag. One of the boats was then run on shore. The soldiers set fire to some of the Transit bridges and burned them. President MARTINEZ had refused to make an official inquiry as to these disturbances.

The Nicaraguan Chambers had at once taken the subjoined action in regard to the Transit:

The Senate and Chamber of Deputies of the Republic of Nicaragua

DECREE:

ARTICLE 1. The transit route on the isthmus of Nicaragua is free for all nations, consequently a monopoly over in favor of any person or company is not recognized or permitted.

ART. 2 The disembarkation and transportation of troops, arms and munidons of war cannot be permitted, except in accordance with a treaty stipulated to that effect with the Republic.

ART. 3. The Government will regulate the manner of making the transit effective, consulting the security and convenience of the Republic.

ART 4. The Government will also take upon itself the imposition of a charge for transportation, moderate and equal for all nations.

ART. 5 This decree shall not be construed in any manner so as to be an obstacle to the opening of the interoceanic maritime canal.

Given at Managua, in the hall of the Chamber of Deputies, Feb. 26, 1859.

President MARTINEZ also issued the following grandiloquent Proclamation against filibusters, promising to shed his last drop of blood for his country, asking his countrymen to do the same:

The President of the Republic of Nicaragua to the Authorities and Inhabitants of the same:

FELLOW-COUNTRYMEN: The spies that we have on the shores of the Pacific being justly alarmed by the extraordinary arrival of a vessel at various points of the coast, gave us speedy notice of it, and we believed, with sufficient cause that we were again invaded by the filibusters. You immediately made ready to combat them, and I also was preparing to lead you to victory, when we were informed that the reported invasion had not taken place.

The filibusters, it is true cause us great mischief by the state of alarm in which they keep us; but they must certainly know the enthusiasm with which you just now ran to arms in defence of your liberty; and this must produce great discouragement among the obstinate plotters of our enslavement. At the proper emergency the Government was enabled to judge of the zeal and activity of the civil and military employés of the departments, and of the people, and also, of the heroic resolution of the Nicaraguans, whose brow I saw proudly raised, as if anticipating the laurels with which it was soon to be decked. You have won a title, one and all, to the public esteem. I admire you, heroic sons of a people, which no sort of calamity has been able to crush; and I am proud to be your chief, since I cannot but be proud of your decision and patriotism.

Lay down your arms, continue your innocent labors, I will watch for your security, and will summon you to combat, if the country should be menaced by the vandals who have sworn to enslave it.

Your fellow-countryman and friend,

MANAGUA, March 4, 1859. TOMAS MARTINEZ.

FROM NICARAGUA.

Ratification of the Ouseley Treaty—The Proceedings of Mr. Belly—The Condition of Nicaragua.

Correspondence of the New-York Times.

LEON, NIC., Tuesday, March 1, 1859.

At length the English Treaty is ratified, and General LAMAR is left to cool his heels outside of the Legislative halls of Managua. The Nicaraguan functionaries say that when they have concluded treaties with England, France and Sardinia, they will offer the choice of them to the United States, and if that does not please Mr. CASS, he must take the best of it. When they tell General LAMAR this, it puts him in a fearful passion, and he declares that not only will they ratify the Cass-Yrissari treaty, with all its clauses and provisions, but they will find they will not be allowed to make such treaties as they may wish to make with England and France.

But, notwithstanding all these threats, Sir WILLIAM OUSELEY pocketed his ratified treaty, mustered his household, and, mounted on mules, went from Leon to the "Punta"; on his arrival he was met by the boats of the British war steamer Vixen, and rowed down the Estero to the port of Realejo, or Punto Icacos, where he was taken on board with his men-servants and maid-servants, his wife and daughter, the yards being manned and salutes fired in consequence thereof by the loyal Britons who compose the Vixen's officers and crew. That night the officers had amateur theatricals, performing "Charles II." and "Sarah Young Man." According to General LAMAR, they should have played "The Road to Ruin!" The Vixen is to convey the diplomatic party to Punta Arenas, where it will be mules all round again for San José, and there Sir WILLIAM will make a treaty with Costa Rica.

In Nicaragua the filibuster excitement is over, the utter desperation of men who would land in Honduras, hoping to make their way to Nicaragua, is proof of their impotence even to the cowardly population of the country. Padre VIJIL, who you will remember was WALKER's minister to the United States, has since been in exile; the old man has now returned to Nicaragua. At St Carlos he was stopped by an order from the Government, and commanded to leave the country. There has been a report in circulation of an insurrection at Castillo, and the execution of a "patriot," who wanted to take and hold the place for WALKER, but the news is unreliable. The Government of Nicaragua was never stronger than now. MARTINEZ is able and active. JEREZ is quiescent in New York, soothed by the crumbs that fall from VANDERBILT's table. All the powder and arms in the State are in the President's hands. There is not a "living sight" for a revolution, even if the people desired it. All the country seems to want is to be severely let alone by the United States.

Their faith in BELLY is strong. Every mail brings them more of BELLY's "assurance." They begin, in their own view, to occupy a heroic position in the eyes of the world; each man thinks himself talked about in England and France—the daily solicitude of VICTORIA and NAPOLEON. BELLY is coming to Nicaragua with hordes of just such Frenchmen as he is. He intends to honor Rivas with his presence—Rivas made immortal in history by the "Belly Convention." There could not be a better place than Nicaragua for Frenchmen—the people are dirty, the women have no virtue, the climate is delightful, and water and sugar are cheaper than anywhere else in the world; then, too, it is a country where bombast and grandiloquence are appreciated; it is the daily conversation of the people. In short, just the place for BELLY and his sort. Long may they wave.

The Merrimack still towers above the inferior craft at Punta Icacas. A more splendid specimen of the fine old American gentleman than Commodore LONG could not be selected.

Affairs in Peru—Revolutions in Bolivia and at Valparaiso.

From Our Own Correspondent.

PANAMA, Tuesday, March 22, 1859.

The British Mail steamship Cloda, Capt. SIVEN, arrived late last evening, with dates from Valparaiso to the 2d inst., and from Callao and Lima to the 27th. She brings $207,358 in silver and 77 packages freight. The Cloda did not touch at Guayaquil, so that we have no news of later date from the Peruvian blockading squadron there.

PERU.

Señor BENIGNO MALO, Minister from Ecuador to Peru, had arrived at Lima to endeavor to settle the difficulties between the two countries. With the intervention of the Chilian and New-Granadian mediators, it was expected the questions at issue would be amicably adjusted.

On the 1st day of March the Senate of Peru approved by a large majority the resolution of the Chamber of Deputies setting all political prisoners at liberty.

On the evening of the 28th of February, Señor JOAQUIN VILLANUEVA, a man of much note in Lima society, was assassinated at 10 o'clock at night in his own house at his hacienda of Santa Beatrix, by a party of eight persons. The assassins forced the doors, and the first person they encountered in the house being the wife of the owner, she was wounded and left on the floor. The husband, who had gone into another room to arm himself, in facing the men, was shot dead by three balls entering his head and breast. Two of the assassins have been arrested. Their motive for the deed was robbery of the house. Several other assassinations, but of persons in humble life, had taken place.

The government was felicitating itself on the rise in the price of guano in London, hoping in consequence a brisker trade in the article.

Peru appears to be tranquil at present, in all its parts.

BOLIVIA.

The dates from La Paz are to the 27th February. An officer named AGREDA has initiated another revolution in Bolivia. He entered Corocoro on the 23d February at the head of a small body of men, and started with them for La Paz on the 24th. A division, composed of 400 infantry, two companies of rifles and 100 artillerymen, with four pieces of cannon, started after AGREDA on the 26th. On the 27th, the forces were within three leagues of each other, and a battle was expected next day.

CORDOVA, whom LINARES ousted from the Presidency, has issued a flaming proclamation, calling on "all good patriots" to restore him to power.

Accounts are conflicting as to the strength of the movement against LINARES, and predictions as to the result are much at variance.

CHILI.

The Comercio, of Valparaiso, the Government organ, has a jubilant account of the successes of the Government of President MONTT, the previous fortnight, in suppressing the revolution in various parts of the Republic. It says the rebels in Rancagua have been signally defeated. It claims that the movement at San Felipe had been put down, and that CARRERA, the leader, has been taken. Nuble, Aranco, Concepcion, Canquenes and Colchagua, it says, are free from the rebels. At Talca, it avers, where the revolutionists had a large number of men well armed and intrenched, when Gen. GARCIA approached with his men, the revolutionists mostly threw down their arms and fled, and the rest were quickly dispersed, with very little fighting. VALLEJO, the chief of the rebels "performed prodigies of valor," but was at last taken, severely wounded. Two hundred prisoners were taken at Talca. The Comercio thinks those men of Talca only stuck to their hostile attitude as long as they did, because they thought the Government could not spare troops from Valparaiso and Santiago to send against them.

In Copiapo, where the revolution originated, the rebels still keep the field and have sent a force to take possession of Coquimbo. They have about 1,200 or 1,400 men, well-armed and disciplined. The Government, at last dates, had only 300 men in the district, but was about to send 300 more there, when it was thought the force of GALLO, the rebel leader, would be defeated or dispersed, and as the Comercio contends, the revolution ended. But all this must be taken with a deal of allowance. It is probably true that the revolutionists did not make much of a stand at Talca; but it is also true that a great portion of the people of Chili are disaffected towards the Government of MONTT—and only need a good leader, who may yet be found, to be successful in overthrowing it.

The revolutionists, who really have the power at the port of Caldera, although the Government nominally occupies, narrowly escaped making a fine haul from the down British steamer which had $485,000 of the $7,000,000 British loan on board. As the steamer neared the landing at Caldera, the Captain observed such suspicious movements at the hauled off his vessel, and waited to communicate with its Consul. In a short time he received a warning from that functionary not to attempt to land anything, as there was a plot to seize this treasure. The captain thereupon took in some coal quickly from a hulk and left.

On the 28th of February, an outbreak took place at Valparaiso, which came near proving disastrous to the Government. My friends of the Star have kindly handed me the following account of it, from a gentleman of veracity, and which will not be published here till to-morrow:

VALPARAISO, Tuesday, March 1, 1859.

This place was yesterday the scene of one of those popular tumults so common in South America, and which I am sorry to say are likely to become frequent in Chili so long as the present Administration lasts. About 12 M. a party of armed citizens made an attempt to get possession of the Intendency, in which they failed, owing to the promptness of the soldiers on guard in closing the doors. The insurgents then commenced firing from the outside of the building, and a scene of the greatest confusion followed. Of course, it was "sauve qui peut" with all peaceably disposed people, and the streets were soon cleared of all but the mob. The soldiers were soon on the field of action. The next attempt was to set fire to the Intendency, by saturating the doors with spirits of turpentine. This was also a failure, several persons having been shot in the act. The appearance of the doors to-day proves that the fire had at one time taken hold of the woodwork. In the meantime another party broke into the Custom-house and seized a lot of muskets and rifles, with which they armed themselves and advanced to meet the military. The fight then became general, principally in the street called the Planchada, where the revolutionists were driven back by the military, the latter sustaining some loss from a severe fire from the windows and balconies of the houses abutting on the municipal square. After about an hour's fighting the insurrection of the rebels gave out, and they retreated up the ravines and dispersed. The military and police then commenced making prisoners; and in doing this, they were in no way particular whose house they broke into. An Englishman by the name of JONES, formerly keeper of the Star Hotel, was shot on suspicion of concealing insurgents. This was a brutal murder. The poor man had harbored no one. He was, however, shot down by the infuriated soldiers in presence of his wife and children, and then dragged out into the streets, and beaten to death with repeated blows from the butt-ends of muskets.

Whatever house was invaded by the soldiers was more or less plundered by them. It was useless to resist, for if you did, off went the lid of your knowledge box.

From what I saw, I judged there must have been from 100 to 150 killed and wounded. One of the leaders, named VILLAR, was executed this morning. Another, by the name of FIZARO, is sentenced already, but is allowed to appeal to the Council of State. Two more, named RUBIO, have taken refuge in the house of the American Consul, but will have to be given up. And a fifth, a young Irishman by the name of NIXON, I hear, is also taken, and awaiting sentence.

All the foreign houses are closed, and business, of course, at a stand-still. The sailing of the Cloda, (for Panama,) has been put off till to-morrow.

There is some talk of another outbreak, but I do not apprehend any further disturbance.

The number of killed on the side of the soldiers is only stated by the Government at 4, the number of the revolutionists killed at 12, wounded 50. VILLAR, spoken of above, was a compositor in the office of the Comercio. He was taken in the act of setting fire to the Palace of the Intendente. DAMIAN and BARTOLOMEO RIOS, the persons spoken of as having taken refuge in the house of Mr. TREVITT, the United States Consul, are brothers. The house of the Consul was surrounded by soldiers, who were to watch it until directions from the United States Minister, Mr. BIGLER, could be received from Santiago.

Flour is held for common brands at $8 25@8 75 for 200 lb. Santiago brands at $8 50@9. Copper $25. In freights, American ship Birckhead was loading with metals at $9 50 for Baltimore. Exchange on England 47d., 60 to 90 days. On United States 5@7 per cent.

CITY INTELLIGENCE.

ANOTHER FATAL STABBING AFFRAY.—About 9 P. M., on Tuesday, as Officer LAWRENCE was on duty in Second-avenue, near Thirty-second-street, a man named WM. BOLAND came running up to him, and asked him to go round to his house in Thirty-second-street, and arrest a man who had been quarreling with himself and family. The officer hurried to the place designated, where he found a man named WM BUTLER, a brother-in-law of BOLAND, lying upon the floor weltering in blood. On making inquiries the officer was informed that some loafers had been in there fighting, and had inflicted the wounds upon BUTLER. The officer sent BOLAND after a physician and while he was gone BUTLER stated that BOLAND was the man who had injured him, and that BOLAND's wife and step daughter were present and saw the whole transaction. On BOLAND's return with the physician, he was taken into custody, and his wife and step-daughter were also detained as witnesses. The physician on examining the wounds found that BUTLER had been stabbed in three places, twice in the side and once in the abdomen. The injured man was conveyed to the Bellevue Hospital, where his wounds were pronounced mortal. He was alive at the last accounts, but no hopes were entertained of his recovery. The quarrel originated in some remarks made by BOLAND derogatory to the character of his step-daughter, who is a niece of BUTLER. BUTLER, who is a brother of BOLAND's wife, and boarded in the family, resented the insult to his niece, and an altercation ensued, during which BOLAND, as is alleged, drew a knife and stabbed his antagonist.

REMOVING COACHES FROM THE CITY HALL.—The Committee on Ordinances of the Board of Councilmen was to have held a meeting yesterday afternoon to consider the propriety of establishing a hackney coach stand in the upper portion of the City. The ordinance as it has passed the Board of Aldermen directs that the Mayor's Marshal shall select 25 coaches from those at the City Hall Park, which shall take their stand at Madison-square. As Councilman GILMORE was the only member of the Committee present no meeting was held. Several hackney coachmen were in attendance. They were quite indignant at the arbitrary nature of the ordinance. If it were enforced they said, at this time of the year when so many of the citizens are about leaving town, it would be the ruin of those coachmen who might be removed. They think that the movement must have been set on foot by some of the drivers around the hotels, or by interested persons in the upper part of the City. In the absence of two members of the Committee, no decision as to their future action could be arrived at.

THE COLLISION NEAR HASTINGS.—The steamer which ran into and sunk the sloop Stephen Raymond on Monday evening was the Knickerbocker, of the Merchants' line, and not the North America, as at first reported, and there was only one life lost instead of three—that of Mr. CONKLIN, who was sleeping at the time, and is supposed to have been knocked overboard. Capt. NELSON says the accident occurred in the following manner. The sloop was sailing down the river before the wind, and was distinctly seen by the steamer's pilot, while still at a considerable distance off. Instead of keeping his course, however, which would have carried them wide apart, the sloop, when near the steamer, suddenly altered her course, and luffed across their bow. They immediately backed, but could not avoid the collision. Two persons, a man and boy, both Germans, climbed on board, and the steamer stopped for some time to find the other man, but as nothing could be heard or seen of him, they proceeded on their way. The two rescued persons went to Albany, and returned with the steamer to this City. We give below a statement from Captain TREMPER, of the North America.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

In a notice of the collision near Hastings, by which the sloop Stephen Raymond was sunk, published in the TIMES of Wednesday, it is stated that the steamer North America is "supposed" to have been the vessl which came in collision with the sloop. This supposition is wholly unfounded. The steamer North America had nothing whatever to do with the accident.

J. H. TREMPER,
Captain North America.

THE STABBING AFFRAY IN WORTH-STREET—DEATH OF VAN VOORT.—JOHN VAN VOORT, who was stabbed on Monday evening, in Worth-street, by WM. E. MOORE, died of his injuries at the City Hospital yesterday morning. Coroner O'KEEFE held an inquest upon the body, when it was proved that the altercation between deceased and MOORE commenced in the grog-shop No. 44 Worth-street, and was continued on the side-walk, in front of that house. The quarrel began about the wife of MOORE, who was present, together with several others, all of whom were more or less intoxicated. No one saw MOORE stab deceased, although one witness testified that he saw him draw some instrument from his pocket during the scuffle. The jury rendered a verdict of death from peritonitis, the result of stabs inflicted with a knife in the hands of MOORE. The prisoner, who states that he is 28 years of age, a native of this City, and a carpenter by trade, was committed for trial, and his wife, with one other person who saw the affray, were detained as witnesses.

COMMISSIONERS OF EMIGRATION.—The Board met yesterday afternoon. By the weekly statement it appears that 6,212 emigrants arrived at this port to the 26th inst., against 7,082 to the same date last year;—1,109 came in during the preceding week. There are 948 inmates in the Institution on Ward's Island, and 49 in the Marine Hospital, $28,795 65 have been disbursed, and $19,465 16 have been received, showing an overdraft of $9,330 49. Some discussion arose on the question of licensing emigrant runners. It was finally decided to lay the matter over until the next meeting, when, it is hoped, Mayor TIEMANN will be present. The Board adjourned to meet in their new rooms at Castle Garden next Wednesday.

GATES AT THE NEW RESERVOIR.—The Committee of the Board of Councilmen on the Croton Aqueduct Department met yesterday afternoon, to consider the question of awarding the contracts for constructing the gates at the new reservoir. Messrs. FAIRCHILD & WALKER, whose bid was $193,513 15, claim the contract for the work on the ground that it belongs to them by a provision inserted in a previous contract. BALDWIN & JAYCOX were the lowest bidders, the price they named being $136,927 70. The Board of Aldermen decided in favor of the latter firm. The Committee determined yesterday to give the parties interested another hearing. They will meet for that purpose on Saturday afternoon.

BELGIAN PAVEMENT ON BROADWAY.—The Committee on Streets of the Board of Councilmen met yesterday afternoon to hear statements from parties who might be opposed to laying the Belgian pavement in Broadway, between Seventeenth and Twenty-fourth streets. No one appearing, it was determined to advertise for contracts. The Committee also decided to report in favor of laying Belgian pavement in Hudson-street, at the expense of the City.

NEW COUNTERFEITS.—A $5 counterfeit bill, purporting to be on the Farmers' and Traders' Bank, of this City, was circulated in the lower Wards yesterday afternoon. Several of the bills were passed. There is no such bank in this City. Another counterfeit $2 bill, on the Merchants' Bank of New-Bedford, Mass., was also put into circulation. The bill is a fac-simile of the original, and poorly executed. CHRISTIAN STRALEY, keeper of a lager-bier saloon in Rose-street, near Duane-street, was arrested by Officer BLAIR, of the Fourth Precinct, on a charge of passing over a dozen of these bills in the Bowery. Detectives ROACH and POOL also arrested THOMAS SMITH for passing some of the bills.

THE SENTENCE OF STEPHENS—AN EXTRA POLICE FORCE.—Sheriff KELLY made a requisition to the Police Commissioners yesterday, for a force of policemen to assist his deputies in keeping the crowd in order on the occasion of the sentence of STEPHENS, which is expected to take place to-day in the Court of Oyer and Terminer. Deputy Superintendent CARPENTER has accordingly detailed twenty-five policemen to assist the Sheriff.

FIRE IN CHRISTIE-STREET.—The alarm at 8½ o'clock last evening was caused by a fire in the hobby-house manufactory of J. H. OOLSEEN on the third floor of No. 197 Chrystie-street. Damage about $125; insured. The fire was evidently the act of an incendiary, and the Fire Marshal will investigate the matter.

FIRE IN ATTORNEY-STREET.—A fire broke out at 9¼ o'clock last night in the foundry of WM. PRATT, No. 62 Attorney-street. Damage trifling.

COUNTRY RESIDENCES.

FOR SALE—A MOST DESIRABLE RESIDENCE, located in the beautiful village of Elmira, N. Y. It is a chance of rare occurrence that such a place can be got, so well calculated for a family who are desirous to retire from hustling, busy, City life; and especially if they have children that they are desirous to educate, as there are in the place Institutions of the first class. The house is commodious and the arrangement, in point of convenience, is unsurpassed—the house being built by the owner for his own use; he has spared no pains or expense to make it a delightful residence. The place, for healthfulness and eligibility, is in every respect what could be wished for. There are over 100 fruit and ornamental trees: the fruit trees are of the choicest kind, such as pear, apple, peach, cherry and plum; also, grapes, and smaller fruit in great profusion; evergreens, rare flowers, shrubs and vines, and numerous bulbous and other perennial flowers adorn the grounds. A better opinion can be formed by seeing a photograph of elevation, also ground plan, at my office, No. 153 Bowery. It will be sold on favorable terms. Also,

J. H. DOUGHTY, Real Estate Agent.

FOR SALE OR EXCHANGE—FOR IMPROVED property in New-York or Brooklyn—at Morris town, N. J., a large and substantial house, with grounds, situated on Morris-av., near the railroad depôt, and is one of the most desirable places in the town. The building is brick, 33 feet front, 46 feet deep, 3 stories high, containing parlor, sitting-room, library and dining-room, with store-room and pantry on first floor, and nine rooms in the second and third stories with basement-kitchen, laundry, cellar, furnace and range, hot and cold water. The house is in complete order, having been finished for the owner's special use; the building stands about 70 feet from the street; the lot comprises about two acres of land, adorned with beautiful shade trees, good garden, together with a large pond, filled with ice. The furniture, if wished, will be leased or sold with the property, and possession given at an early day. If wanted, an excellent stable and carriage-house on an adjoining lot can be obtained. Morristown is one of the pleasantest villages in the State, noted for its healthy location, fine water, good schools, society, &c.; is very accessible by railroad to New-York, being within an hour and twenty minutes of it. For further information, apply to E. P. BEACH, Great Western Railway Agency, No. 293 Broadway, corner of Chambers-st., or JOHN BRAINERD, No. 2 Pine-st.

and all ...other Railroads built or to be built and constructed by ...said Company, or which they have a right to construct, by ...or under any corporate or other rights, privileges or fran...chises granted or given to said Company by the Legisla...ture of the State of Wisconsin, or from any other source, ...or in any other manner whatever; including all and sin...gular the several tracts, pieces or parcels of land which ...constituted, or might thereafter constitute, the site of the ...roadways, turn-outs, engine-houses, workshops, depots ...and other buildings, and all the other lands and real es...tate which constituted or might thereafter constitute, or ...be a part of or appertain to said railroads; and including, ...also, all and singular the lots, land and real estate ...whatsoever which the said Company owned, or might ...thereafter acquire by purchase, grant, gift or otherwise, ...in the cities of Milwaukee and La Crosse or in the vicinity of either of said cities, and all improvements made or ...thereafter to be made thereon, and all rights of dockage ...and wharfage, and all other riparian rights and privileges and franchises appertaining thereto as particularly described in the various deeds of the same to said Company; and, also, all and singular the superstructure of said Railroads, whether then made and constructed, or thereafter to be constructed, and all the engine-houses, workshops, depots and other buildings, and all other improvements now, or appertaining to said Railroads, built or thereafter to be built and constructed; and, also, all and singular the locomotive engines and other rolling stock, and all the other equipments of every kind and description procured, or thereafter to be procured for, or used on said Railroads, and all the materials, implements and utensils, and other personal property procured, or thereafter to be procured for, or used in connection with, said Railroads; and, also, all and singular the rights, liberties, privileges and franchises of said La Crosse and Milwaukee Railroad Company of every kind and description;—and, also, all and singular the lands granted, or intended to be granted, to said La Crosse and Milwaukee Railroad Company, under or by virtue of the Act of Congress approved June 3, 1856, entitled "An act granting Public Lands to the State of Wisconsin, to aid in the construction of Railroads in said State," and the Act of the Legislature of the State of Wisconsin, approved Oct. 11, 1856, entitled "An Act to grant certain lands to the La Crosse and Milwaukee Railroad Company, and to execute the trust created by an Act of Congress, entitled 'An Act granting public lands to the State of Wisconsin to aid in the construction of Railroads in said State,' approved June 3, 1856," together with all and singular the hereditaments and appurtenances belonging or in any wise appertaining to the said lands; and also all and singular the bonds, bills of exchange, promissory notes, accounts, causes of action, demands and choses in action of whatsoever nature, owned wholly or in part by said Railroad Company, on such day as the said Railroad Company might first make default in the payment of the principal or interest which might thereafter become due on any of the said bonds issued by said Company under said trust deeds or mortgages; and all the property, real, personal and mixed, of said Railroad Company then acquired and vested, or thereafter to be acquired and vested, together with all the rights, liberties, privileges and franchises of said Railroad Company as fully and completely as said Railroads had been entirely built, constructed and equipped and the particular lands granted by the foregoing Acts of Congress and the Legislature of the State of Wisconsin fully designated and duly patented and conveyed to said Railroad Company according to the provisions of the said Acts—were conveyed to the undersigned to be held by him in trust for and as security to the bondholders of said Company for the payment of the said bonds with the interest thereon secured by said Mortgage Deeds.

And whereas, by said Trust or Mortgage Deeds, it was provided that if said Railroad Company should make default for the space of fifteen days in the payment of any of the interest warrants or coupons accompanying the said bonds as they respectively became due, or if default for the like period should be made in the payment at maturity, of the principal sum of money mentioned in any of the said bonds secured by said Mortgage Deeds; then, and in either of said cases, the undersigned, as Trustee, was authorized, in his discretion, to enter into and take possession of all and singular the Railroads and all the other property, real, personal and mixed, covered or conveyed, or intended to be covered or conveyed, by said trust deeds, with all the rights, liberties, privileges and franchises of said Company, and to take and receive the income and profits thereof, and to sell all and singular said Railroads and said other property, real, personal and mixed, with all the rights, liberties, privileges and franchises of said Railroad Company, covered and conveyed, or intended to be covered or conveyed, by said mortgage deeds, either at public or private sale; and, also, if at on the written request of the holder or holders of said bonds then outstanding to the amount, in the aggregate, of one hundred thousand dollars, the undersigned should proceed to make such sales and conveyances for the purpose of paying the outstanding bonds and the interest thereon; but in case of any sale at auction, it was provided that notice of such intended sale should be published once in each week for three weeks at the least, in two newspapers published in the City of New-York, and in a newspaper published in the City of Milwaukee; and that on such sale the undersigned should execute and deliver to the purchaser or purchasers deeds and conveyances which should vest in such purchaser or purchasers all the estate, right, title and interest, whether legal or equitable, of the undersigned Trustee, and said Railroad Company of, in, and to, the said property, rights, liberties, privileges and franchises, and every part and parcel thereof.

And whereas, the interest that became due on the 1st day of January, 1859 upon all of the bonds issued by said Company, secured by the Mortgage Deeds aforesaid, amounting to the sum of about one hundred and forty thousand dollars, was not paid by said Company, when it became due, and said Company having made default in such payment for the space of more than fifteen days; and whereas also holders of said outstanding bonds, amounting in the aggregate to the sum of over one hundred thousand dollars, have duly requested, in writing, in compliance with said Mortgage Deeds, that the undersigned should proceed to make such sales and conveyances as aforesaid:

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, that in pursuance of the authority vested in the undersigned by said Mortgage Deeds, I shall expose for sale at auction, to the highest bidder, in conformity to law, at the Court-House in the City of Milwaukee, in said State, on the 19th day of March, A.D., 1859, at 12 o'clock M. of that day, all and singular, the said Railroads, and real, personal and other property, of whatsoever nature, covered by said Trust Deeds, together with all the said rights, privileges and franchises appertaining thereto, and also all the corporate and other rights, privileges and franchises of said La Crosse and Milwaukee Railroad Company; or which may be included in, covered or conveyed, or intended to be covered or conveyed by said Mortgage Deeds, in order to pay the said outstanding bonds and interest, and the costs and expenses of this sale.

AFFAIRS AT ALBANY.

A Health Officer and Marine Hospital Physician Nominated—List of the Candidates for the First Prize—The City Reform Bill, Atlantic Tunnel Removal and the Brooklyn Water and Sewerage Bills Ground and Ready to be Reported Complete.

From Our Own Correspondent.

ALBANY, Wednesday, March 30, 1859.

The Governor sent to the Senate, to-day, the names of Dr. ALEXANDER GUNN, for Health Officer, and of Dr. JASONE, of Trumansville, Tompkins County, for Marine Physician. The nominations lie over a week, of course, and meanwhile, there will be deep plowing with the Senate. The office of Health Officer is worth from $15,000 to $150,000 a year, according to who your authority is. Out of the fees, whatever they amount to, there are to come, in the shape of expenses, some $5,000 to be paid to boatmen, &c.; some $3,000 for family expenses and keeping open house to visitors, and $5,000 party tax. So that to amass a fortune the occupant of the office must be a man of "financial address" and skill. Quite a number who are NOW in town, or will be before another week is over, are willing to undertake the job, to pay all taxes, keep open house and trust to Providence for something comfortable above expenses.

Dr. GUNN, whose name has been sent in, is a scholarly, gentlemanly physician of your City, of connections that give him strength and enjoying high social position. Politically he is not strong, but I take it that with from $15,000 to $150,000 a year, almost anybody would become strong at an early date. He was an applicant for the place in 1855 and again in 1857, and last evening it was not supposed by his outside friends that his chances were as good as some others. If the Senate should fail to confirm his nomination, there are others who are willing to fill the gap that the failure would make. For instance:

Dr. WOODWARD, the partner of Dr. JAMES R. WOOD, of your City, who is now at Congress Hall, and who is still sanguine of success. Dr. WOODWARD is about 35 years old, apt to learn the peculiar duties that would be required of the Health Officer, is backed by hosts of vigorous young Republicans, and is intimate with the Governor's Private Secretary. He was an applicant for the office under Governor KING.

Dr. IVES, Police Surgeon,—backed by General NYE,—a man skillful in politics and in medicine alike, who has been frequently a candidate for this office, was supposed to stand a very fair chance, and his friends bet high on him. In 1854 he was a candidate for the berth of Physician to the Marine Hospital, and made a good run towards it.

Dr. GUSDON BUCK was here last Sunday, and his friends thought that the brilliancy of his prospects would have justified him in staying up. He is the distinguished Surgeon of the New-York Hospital, is no politician, is very short-sighted, (literally,) is an honest man, and would make a miserable hand at gathering up the stealings. He is said to be one of the family physicians to the Governor, and has been surgeon to several institutions whereof Governor MORGAN was trustee; has a reputation for integrity, honesty, and simpleness of purpose that would illuminate any State office. At 11 o'clock to-day he stood No. One for chances, but it was feared that the Senate would not confirm him.

Dr. ALANSON JONES, once a Whig, a Police Surgeon under Mayor WOOD, in 1855 a straight Whig, now a Police Surgeon and an ardent Republican, candidate for the Health Office in 1856, and altogether a sharp man, has been talked of a good deal, but his prospects never were other than dim.

Dr. FAY, formerly Deputy Health Officer under MORRIS, lately physician at Ward's Island, once a practitioner of medicine in Albany, was named, too, as a proper man.

Dr. KENNEDY, of the Fifth Ward, was an applicant for Chief of Medical Hospital under DOANE, often ran for Alderman, as Whig or Republican, was an alternate to the National Republican Convention in 1856, and is now a Police Surgeon, wished to be reckoned in.

Ditto, Dr. BLAKEMAN, one of your most respectable City physicians.

Ditto, Dr. BUSKELL, formerly of Livingston County, and now Physician to the Marine Hospital. He was backed here by Farmer ABEL, HOLLIS WHITE and ex-Member of Congress SHERMAN. Failing of the prize, it was understood he was willing to accept the second—a reappointment.

Out of your City was Dr. CULLEN, urged by the Kings County delegations in Senate and Assembly. He is an accomplished Brooklyn physician, no politician, but of influential connections, and was supposed of fine prospects for the race.

Also, Dr. BALL, of Brooklyn, one of the Police Surgeons.

Also, Dr. JONES, of Onondaga, Ex-Member of Congress, who presided with so much grace and dignity over the late Republican State Convention at Syracuse. Backed by Superintendent VIVUS SMITH, (of the Salt Works,) by CHAS. SEDGWICK, and Senator NOXON, his chances were never thought bad.

Dr. COGSWELL, of Albany, Mr. WEED's family physician, who was a candidate in 1855 and 1857, was frequently named, but the presumption is that he has made no push for it.

Dr. CHARLES ROWLAND, of Brooklyn, a good Temperance man, and a delegate to the late State American Convention, who, by marriage is allied to the Governor's family, was supposed to have some show.

Senator TRUMAN and Lieutenant-Governor CAMPBELL were known to urge Dr. JEROME, of Trumansville, Tompkins County. Senator LAFLIN, too, was reckoned among his friends. I suppose his locality was held against him, but he comes in second best, being the Governor's nominee for Physician to the Marine Hospital.

Dr. THOMPSON, present incumbent, had the recommendations of Mayors TIEMANN and POWELL, the official indorsement of the Pilots of the port and of the New-York Board of Health, and the personal influence of Speaker LETCHWORTH. But the new king knows not Joseph, and the Argus congratulates the Doctor's numerous friends in Albany that he would soon return to resume his practice here.

Whoever the happy man shall be, it will be happy for your port if he shall be a man capable of distinguishing a far-off coming contagion, and of firmness to Quarantine it. His duties will be very different from what they have been heretofore, especially if the Removal bill, which now hangs in the Senate, becomes a law, and the Hospitals are taken up from Staten Island and set down—where?

By telegraph you are informed of the proceedings here to-day. I have only to add that the great Omnibus Reform Bill is to be reported complete to-night, and that the Brooklyn Water and Sewerage Bills have just been ground, but not reported yet.

GLAUCUS.

NEW YORK LEGISLATURE.

SENATE.... ALBANY, Wednesday, March 30.

The bill to charter the New-York Observatory was ordered to a third reading.

The Grinding Committee put forward several bills, among them the New-York Western Dispensary bill.

A large number of reports were presented by the various Committees, but none of general interest.

The bill to protect the liberty of witnesses was taken up in Committee of the Whole.

On motion of Mr. J. D. WILLARD, it was amended so as to prevent the provisions of the act applying to cases where the accused are charged with crime punishable with death.

EVENING SESSION.

The Grinding Committee reported several bills, among which was that to increase the number of Coroners in Queens County.

The following bills were ordered to a third reading:

To allow the supervisors to hold the office of Commissioners of Deeds.

Relative to escheated lands.

To amend the revised statutes relative to arson.

The consideration of the bill to amend the license law was postponed till Friday evening.

The Registry bill was then taken up.

Mr. NOXON moved to substitute the bill passed by the Assembly for that before the Senate.

The debate was continued on the bill till 10 o'clock, and it was then made the special order for to-morrow.

Mr. ELY introduced a bill to create a second Health Officer; one is to reside at Quarantine and the other in New-York City. The fees are to remain as at present and to be divided. The bill defines the duties of each officer.

Mr. ELY reported complete the Central Park bill, and it was ordered to a third reading.

The bill to reorganize the Albany Police was passed.

ASSEMBLY.... ALBANY, Wednesday, March 30.

Mr. MALLORY, from a majority of the Committee on Cities and Villages, reported favorably the bill to authorize the opening of streets through Trinity Church grave-yard, New-York.

Mr. SMITH moved to lay the report on the table, but withdrew the motion at the request of Mr. C. S. SPENCER, who moved to recommit the bill to the New-York delegates. He said there were scores upon scores of remonstrances against the bill, and that it was only a renewal of the attempt of the jackals who have been for years striving to enrich themselves by a desecration of the remains of the revolutionary heroes. The friends of the bill had not even the courage to report it by its right title, but covered it up by calling it a bill for improving certain streets and avenues in New-York.

Mr. SMITH advocated the motion to recommit.

Mr. WOODRUFF spoke against the bill and in favor of its recommittal. The counsel, he said, for Trinity Church, and for those whose ancestors lie buried in the old grave-yard, were now in this city waiting to be heard against this bill, and he deemed it proper that they should be heard.

Mr. MALLORY stated that petitions had been presented in favor of the bill, and that the Committee had given it their careful consideration.

Mr. RUTHERFORD spoke against the bill and in favor of its recommittal.

Mr. OPDYKE hoped the motion to recommit would not prevail, and advocated the bill. The progress of the City, demanded the opening of these streets. There was no reason why Trinity Church should not be compelled to give way to the progress of the age. Her wealth did not entitle her to especial privileges above other churches.

Mr. GOVER spoke against the bill, and in favor of its recommittal.

Mr. SMITH denied the statement of Mr. OPDYKE that the commercial interests of the City demanded the opening of Albany-street. He had resided for twenty-five years in its immediate neighborhood, and he denied, on his oath of office, that there was any necessity for the opening of the street.

The motion to recommit, with instructions to strike out the clause allowing the opening of Albany-street, prevailed, by 44 to 18.

Mr. TUTHILL reported against the bill to amend the Emigrant laws.

Mr. SMITH moved that the report lay on the table in order to give time for examination of the report of last year. Carried.

Mr. SMITH moved to make the New-York Tax bill the special order for to-morrow. Carried.

Mr. REILLY presented a minority report signed by himself and Mr. MALLORY against the bill changing the existing Charter of New-York on the ground that it corrects no evils now existing, but seeks to concentrate power and patronage in those departments now filled by Republicans. The accumulation of patronage in the hands of the finance department, the minority believe, is calculated to embarrass rather than facilitate the effective discharge of the important duties of the Comptroller.

The proposed change in regard to the Almshouse Governors was an innovation for which no adequate reason has been given. It is submitted that the City of New-York should not be utterly divested of self-government because its Democracy offends or its patronage incites the cupidity of a Republican Legislature. The minority were in favor of calling a Convention to amend the City Charter, as that would be courteous to its citizens, and better calculated to secure economy and good Government.

Mr. REILLY reported favorably the bill to raise the salary of Surrogates and their Clerks.

The Central Park bill was ordered to a third reading.

The report of the Committee in favor of repealing the act authorizing aid in the erection of a monument in Philadelphia to the signers of the Declaration of Independence came up for discussion.

Messrs. CONKLING and SCHOLFIELD advocated the repeal, and Mr. TOMLINSON spoke warmly against the proposed repeal as a violation of the plighted faith of the State and a stain upon her honor.

Mr. C. S. SPENCER also opposed the repeal, as an act of disgraceful repudiation.

After debate, on motion of the Speaker, the report was laid on the table.

EVENING SESSION.

Mr. GOVER called up the resolution requesting the Governor to furnish the House with all the information in his possession relating to the disbandment of the Twelfth Regiment, and the same was adopted.

BILLS PASSED.

To amend the Revised Statutes, respecting salt springs and the manufacture of salt.

To provide more effectually for punctual payment of taxes into the treasury of the State.

To incorporate the American Missionary Association.

In relation to fees of Notaries Public in certain cases.

To incorporate the Flushing, College Point and New-York Steam Navigation Company.

The bill to amend the act designating holidays for observance, in the payment of bills of exchange, &c., was lost, and a motion to reconsider was laid on the able.

On motion of Mr. RUTHERFORD the bill relating to the compensation of jurors in the City of New-York, was ordered to be again reported by the Committee.

Mr. C. S. SPENCER moved to suspend the third reading of bills, and to take up the Personal Liberty bill. Carried, and the bill was discussed in Committee of the Whole during the Evening Session.

Mr. SPENCER moved to strike out the eleventh section, which provides against any lawyer appearing as Attorney for a slave-owner, giving as his reason that he was willing to give the slave-catcher the same privilege of appearing by counsel as is given to the slave.

Messrs. HOLT, POWELL, SCHOLEFIELD, C. S. SPENCER, PERRY and LAING spoke in favor of the bill, and Messrs. LAWRENCE, WARNER, GOVER, and WIEANT against it. Mr. LAWRENCE's argument was against the constitutionality of the bill.

Before taking the question, progress was reported on the bill.

The Grinding Committee have prepared a number of bills to report to-morrow morning, embracing some of importance. Among them are the following:

The bill remodeling the departments in the New-York Municipal Government.

The City Hall amendment bill.

The bills to prevent the improper retention of the notes of country banks, and protect the country banks against improper practices in presenting their notes for redemption.

The bill to provide for the supply of one copy of the Colonial History to each member of the present Legislature.

The bill to authorize the Croton Aqueduct Commissioners to construct works to bring in an additional supply of water over the High Bridge.

The bill to empower members of benevolent charitable scientific and missionary corporations to vote by proxie.

The bill authorizing the adjustment of claims, and their application upon the debt due the State by the Bank of Orleans.

The bill to provide for closing the tunnel of the Long Island Railroad, in Atlantic-street, Brooklyn, and the discontinuance of the use of steam within the city of Brooklyn.

While the bill to repeal the act to authorize aid to the Philadelphia Monument was under discussion, Mr. SMITH spoke against the repeal, declaring that it would be disgraceful for the State to repudiate her promise to subscribe $50,000 for the monument, when the New-York firemen alone had subscribed $10,000 for it; and he would himself guarantee to raise that sum among his own constituents, nearly all of whom are foreigners.

Nominations Sent to the Senate.

ALBANY, Wednesday, March 30.

The name of ALEXANDER GUNN, of New-York, was, to-day, sent into the Senate by the Governor for Health Officer of New-York

No nominations for Port Wardens or Harbor Masters for New-York were sent in.

G. M. SAYLES was appointed Harbor Master of Albany.

JAMES H. JEROME, of Tompkins County, was nominated for Resident Physician.

BROOKLYN INTELLIGENCE.

THE NEW GAS COMPANY.—There is much rejoicing at the action of the City authorities on Monday night last, in giving permission to the Citizens' Gas-Light Company to lay gas mains throughout the city, and enter into competition with the Brooklyn Gas-Light Company, for supplying citizens with gas. The old Company has the contract for supplying the public buildings and streets for the next five years, at $2 50 per 1,000 cubic feet, and this contract cannot be disturbed until it expires. Private consumers are now charged $3 per 1,000 cubic feet. The new company, under the grant, cannot charge the city more than $1 25 per 1,000 cubic feet, or more than $2 50 per 1,000 cubic feet to private consumers. At this price they agree to furnish the best quality of gas made from coal, and to furnish 25 feet of service pipe and the use of metres free of charge. The new company propose to file their bonds and proceed forthwith to construct their works, and expect to be ready to supply gas within six months. By the grant they are allowed one year in which to commence their works. The new Company was represented before the Common Council by James F. Whitney, John H. Boynton, John H. Smith, Wm. Spence, Henry Warren, James W. Emery and Joseph C. Johnson. Of these gen lemen, the Gas Committee say: "In regard to the responsibility of the petitioners, the undersigned can speak with the utmost confidence. The majority of them are citizens of Brooklyn, of responsibility and standing; they are gentlemen who have long been identified with the interests of our city; gentlemen of property and experience, able and willing to perform what they agree to do."

THE CASE OF JAMES GALLAGHER.—A new trial having been granted JAMES GALLAGHER, who was convicted in the Summer of 1856 of the murder of HUGH KELLY, at the foot of Fulton street, he was yesterday arraigned in the Court of Oyer and Terminer. The District-Attorney, Mr. SCHUMAKER, said as the entire bench of the Supreme Court had agreed that the prisoner had been convicted of a higher grade of crime than was warranted by the evidence, he was willing to accept a plea of guilty of manslaughter in the fourth degree, which had been offered by the defendant's counsel, SAMUEL GARRISON, Esq. The Court making no objections, the prisoner was arraigned, and after a few judicious remarks by Judge LOTT, was sentenced to two years' imprisonment at hard labor in the State Prison at Sing Sing, the highest sentence that could be inflicted. GALLAGHER was evidently much affected by the remarks made to him. He was soon after removed to the County Jail in Raymond-street, and will be taken to Sing Sing the present week. Several prisoners, against whom no indictments had been found by the Grand Jury, were discharged, when the Court adjourned.

BRUTAL AFFAIR.—A woman named ROSE TULLY last evening went into a low groggery on Navy, near York-st., for the purpose of inducing her husband, who was there drinking, to go home. The inmates of the establishment pitched upon Mrs. TULLY, and after beating her severely about the head with bottles and chairs, kicked her into the street. The injured woman was taken in charge by the police, and a physician was called to dress her wounds. The Police of the Second Precinct arrested RICHARD MCGAFNEY, ANN MCGAFNEY, GEO. MCKINNEY, and CATHARINE STEWART, for committing the assault, and they were locked up for examination.

DEMOCRATIC MASS MEETING.—The Democracy held a mass meeting last evening, in City Hall square, to ratify the nominations for City officers. The meeting was called to order by Mr. GEORGE G. HERMAN of the Ninth Ward, and Alderman KALBFLEISCH, of the Eighteenth Ward, was elected Chairman. Addresses were made by Senator SPINOLA, Judge MORRIS, Mr. MORSE, the candidate for Treasurer, and others. The meeting was neither large or enthusiastic.

WEDNESDAY, March 30—P. M.

Three foreign mails came in together this forenoon, of dates March 12, 16 and 19, from England; the latest being by the favorite steamship Persia, which made the run from Liverpool in eleven days. The screw-steamer Kangaroo arrived a few hours before her with news only to the 16th inst., the general political and financial complexion of which was construed unfavorably. And although a synopsis of the Persia's quotations was made known soon after the opening of the Stock Exchange, the very latest information was not understood until the afternoon, and the strong downward course of the market noticed yesterday was continued. The pressure to sell for cash and on contract for still lower prices extended over nearly the entire Share List, and met with little check, except on Hudson River, Harlem Preferred and Michigan Guaranteed, until near the close of, and after the printed list, in the afternoon. Then the whole tone of the market suddenly changed, and the recovery became almost as general as the previous decline. The fluctuations since yesterday forenoon have been so rapid and important as to excite attention outside the Stock Exchange, and some new buyers for Central and the Western Shares were brought in by the extreme decline. Part of the Bear account also was closed up on outstanding contracts, though, as usual in the flush of success, new contracts were put out again at the lowest figures, by the same parties, as the Bulls, on the reverse state of things, not unfrequently, after realizing on a substantial rise, buy in again at higher figures. In the one case the Stock is pronounced "doomed" and hopeless; in the other, the rise has "only begun." The sales of the day, in some of the active Shares, were:

New-York Central	77⅜@77¼@77¾
Michigan Guaranteed	39¾@40@40⅛
Hudson, firm throughout	32¾@32½
Galena	67@67¼@66⅝@67
Rock Island	56¾@55¾@56
Harlem Preferred, steady	39¼
Michigan Central	50¾@50@50⅛
Illinois Central, steady	67¼@67⅜
Pacific Mail	77¾@77¾@77¾
Reading	49⅞@50¼

The sales it will be noticed were quite considerable, on the printed list, after which a good deal was done in the Board room, and the market left off firm.

On the Bond list State Stocks were firm, and Federal 5s steady. Illinois Construction Bonds close 91½. Erie Common Bonds, 30. Some few Michigan Southern second mortgage were pressed at 57@58 ₱ cent., a decline of 4 ₱ cent. within a day or two. In City Bank Stocks the investment demand continues good and at full prices. The Brooklyn Bank shares are also in favor. A sale, larger than usual of the latter, took place on the Street, of 500 shares Manufacturers' Bank, at 104 ₱ cent.

In Money Affairs there is nothing new. Foreign Bills for the Asia closed 109⅛@109¼ on London, firm. The shipment of Bullion is $279,000. There is a pause in Cotton on the Persia's advices, but little or no yielding in price on sales of 2,800 bales. The slight decline in Liverpool was on the India advices and the continued agitation on the Continent on the Italian question. A favorable turn in the latter appeared to be pending at the latest business hours on Friday, 18th, in London, when Consols suddenly advanced ⅛@¼ ₱ cent. for the day, closing 96⅛. A private letter says that purchases to the amount of £300,000 were made by an influential party, supposed on telegraphic information from Paris. The London correspondent of the Commercial in a postscript writes:

"After official hours this evening, there has been a sudden advance of more than a quarter ₱ cent. in Consols, purchases having been made at 96⅛, in consequence it is believed of some private news from Paris just received by an influential house. Rumors are current of a great rebound in French Rentes, and of an arrangement having been listened to for a simultaneous reduction of the Austrian and French armaments."

The demand for Silver for the East had increased, and the purchasers in London and the orders sent to the Continent had improved the demand for Money to the full Bank rate of 2½ ₱ cent. Withal, however, the Discounts of the Bank on the weekly report shows an increase of only £228,000, leaving the Notes of Circulation secured in the June Department and still unemployed in the Banking Department £13,349,000—equal to $66,000,000—the stock of Bullion at the same time being £19.922,732, a decrease of £28,290 from the previous week. The circular of Messrs. BELL quotes the new Federal Fives at 93¾@94¾ sterling. State Stocks steady, but not much business. The monthly return of the Bank of France shows a stock of Bullion almost equal to the great accumulation of 1852, the sum total being about $111,500,000. Of the general features of the present return the London Times remarks:

"The monthly return of the Bank of France shows an increase of £1,320,000 in the stock of bullion, which is thus raised to £22,300,000. The notes in circulation have experienced another decrease of £700,000, and the contraction of trade is also evidenced by a decline of £1,470 000 in the discounts. In the treasury balance there is an augmentation of £940.000, while the deposits of the public show a decrease of £264,000. The advances on Rentes have decreased £40,000, but in those shares there is an increase of £180,000."

The Sub-Treasury to-day received $200,725, of which $85,000 from Customs; paid out $227,880, of which $33,000 on California drafts additional to $75,000 yesterday. The balance this afternoon stands $7,863,202.

The receipts on the Galena Road for the third week in March are reported $1,800 better than the same week last season. This, notwithstanding the heavy state of the common roads of the country leading to the rail line. The increase is on the passenger movement, which, as before remarked, is likely to improve considerably throughout the country. The favorable change in the freight traffic coming East will scarcely be felt in the Northwest until it is ascertained that the new grain crop is well out of danger. Thus far the prospect for Wheat is almost universally good. The change in the traffic to the West will come with the full opening of canal and lake navigation. The trade in merchandise, it will be borne in mind, is usually later by six weeks than with the Southwest, just now closing up with several of the States. We are not ignorant of the fact that the Northwest is still poor in money. If any one were disposed to disguise this point against the Illinois and Michigan lines of Railway, he would stand a good chance of being overwhelmed by the indefatigable and lugubrious counsel for the Stock Exchange. But it is a sudden and singular discovery that the great Northwest of 1856, particularly the States of Michigan and Illinois, not to go beyond the line of the latter to Wisconsin, Iowa and Minnesota, is completely exhausted in material resources; that there is no old grain or hogs or beef cattle left, and that a fair much less abundant, new crop is never to come again! And, finally, if it should come, that there are too many Railways to do the business, whatever it may chance to be! As if to clinch the argument, we are told that there is no export demand for grain or flour; though the same cannot be said for provisions. Of course the Eastern demand is wholly ignored; so that the conclusion would be for the cold comfort of Railway Bond and Stockholders, who do not read the market reports, that grain is a drug, and flour not worth the cost of transportation. This is certainly a large draft upon the credulity and ignorance of every-day life, and we beg pardon for the following reference, in reply, to the relative state of the Corn Exchange now and at the close of the last year, only three months ago; reminding the reader that though the exporters are silent at such prices, and speculation only half alive, labor has a larger employment in the Eastern States than at any time since 1856, and that labor must be fed, as it can just now afford to be well fed:

The frequent errors in the Bank of England return, as published in Willmer & Smith's Liverpool Times—from which several of our City cotemporaries quote without discovering the mistake—induces us to call attention to the gross negligence of the Liverpool editor in adding up and comparing the Stock of Bullion in the bid departments of the establishment. By the Persia the error is a million sterling. By a previous steamer about £700,000. The attentive Liverpool correspondent of the Associated Press usually gives the correct comparison with the previous week, drawn direct from the London returns.
